SOMETHING POSITIVE

Captain of School, David Ransom, examines student attitudes.

In recent years much has been written and said about the issues of student attitudes. This school is no exception, and it is a good and necessary thing that we examine ourselves.

There are two main areas in this matter which we should do something about. These are student-teacher relationships and the relationship between the students themselves.

The relationship between the student and teacher within the classroom cannot be readily changed, but there could be a definite improvement in the relationship outside the classroom. Boys are often indifferent or even antagonistic towards masters. There is a need to know the master more as a person and less as a disciplinarian. Students rarely talk to masters on an informal basis. If this was done many of the problems which result from a lack of communication and therefore a lack of understanding could be readily solved.

I would like next to deal with the relationship between the main group of boys and the student who does not appear to 'fit in'. In any community there are bound to be a few people who do not conform to the accepted behaviour patterns of the rest. Within the school, there is a tendency to ridicule these boys and sometimes this is carried to extreme lengths. There are boys who seem to derive great satisfaction from belittling a student who is in some way different. Derisive comments are made on the pretext of being funny but usually all that is achieved is that the object of this 'wit' becomes miserable.

It could be argued that this type of behaviour goes on in every school, but this does not mean it should go unchecked; and much of it can and should be checked by those students who know it is wrong but do nothing to prevent it.

Lastly I feel that there is an increasing need to meet people from other schools, other than on the sporting field. An attempt was made this year to organize several inter-school social events but none of these eventuated. The objectives are worth pursuing.

In all cases what is needed, I feel, is a more positive attitude and some positive action.

MOTHER TO NINE HUNDRED

After eighteen years as Housemother of Romsey, Miss Muriel Heales, one of the School's best known members is retiring. Reg Meyer now in fifth year offers a few reminiscences and on behalf of many boys, a vote of thanks.

There are very few boarders at Christ Church who have not had the 'Miss Heales experience'. In fact, Miss Heales calculates that she has mothered almost nine hundred boys and watched them grow up in the school — quite an impressive compromise for someone who has not had a family of her own.

Perhaps the reason for Miss Heales' success is the fact that she possesses all the qualifications and requirements of a Housemother: a constant supply of biscuits, an inexhaustible stock of 'spare' hankies, socks and the oddments of clothing which boys tend to lose, and, above all, the ability to sympathise with the adolescent point of view in every conflict.

It's no mean task to be a 'mother away from mother', but Miss Heales says she wouldn't have had it any other way. The ironical thing is, however, that she might never have taken the job on at all. "All my friends said I wouldn't last a month, but I told Mr. Moyes I would give it a go for a term." An eighteen year term in fact during which time Miss Heales has been an indispensable part of Romsey House and is just as active today as she was when she first came.

"If it wasn't for my knees, I'd stay and outlive the lot of you," is an oft-heard remark, and, "get your hands out of the biscuit-tin — I've been here since long before you were born, and I know all your tricks," was the typical admonishment to which we listened as we dipped our hands into the tin of gingersnaps — conveniently placed.

And so, Miss Heales, from nine-hundred who have had 'the experience' best wishes for a long and happy retirement and . . . thank you.

Swimming Magnificently Second

In 1968 Christ Church finished second by two points to Hale. 1969 saw a repeat, only this time the margin was forty-three points. Last year yet another second, and now 1971 has seen a tie for second place with Guildford.

Although we were lacking in individual stars we put in a much greater effort than ever before and, this enabled us to function as a better team. In the many weeks of dedicated training a unity grew within the team. Our coach Mr. Bowker built upon this unity until we were very strong, not only physically, but in spirit as well.

With only one week to go before the Inters we entered our strongest team in the Quadrangular Sports – which we comfortably won by 44 points from Wesley.

The following Saturday night we arrived at Beatty Park with high hopes of taking off the 1971 Inters.

The excitement was at its highest by interval with a tight struggle developing between ourselves, Guildford and Hale. Hale, however, gradually emerged the stronger. Christ Church and Guildford were matched stroke for stroke throughout the entire programme, and the resultant tie for second place was a just reward for both.

The under 16 duo of M. Halliday and G. Koski again, as in previous years, dominated. They won both divisions of the U/16 Freestyle, Backstroke and Butterfly and were both members of the U/16 relay team which finished second – truly a magnificent effort.

Others to do well were the various age group champions: G. Pallot (Open), M. Halliday (U/16), V. Graham (U/15), J. Wilshire (U/14), and J. Lanier (U/13).

On behalf of the team I wish to sincerely thank Mr. Bowker for his untiring effort throughout the season and also Mr. John Julien, John Moncrieff, Simon Martin and Simon Abbott who all contributed immensely toward the success of the team.

Cricket

A Lack of Strength at the Top

We shocked all those who take an interest in Darlot Cup cricket by defeating Hale by an innings and 24 runs in the first match of the season. Good performances were recorded by Nott and Kay in the batting, while Meikle took 5 for 25. Dave Meager gave a brilliant display of inswing bowling in taking 8 for 31 in the second innings.

Unfortunately we weren't capable of continuing in this vain as the next week Trinity reversed the result. We lost many early wickets very cheaply and the middle and later order batsmen had to face up to fresh, inspired and accurate bowling with an unblemished ball.

The first innings against Scotch was a repeat of the previous week, but in the second innings the batsmen showed more application.

At Guildford we were completely outclassed and this was magnified when easy catches were spilled.

After the game against Wesley was abandoned we met Aquinas on a sticky wicket which should have been to our advantage as we were a bowling side. However our batting failed dismally and we lost outright. Meager again returned very good figures with 6 for 49, and Nott batted extremely well in the second innings for 49 not out.

We lost four out of five matches in the Darlot Cup competition basically because our batting was weak and our catching ability was below First Eleven standard.

David Meager was the outstanding fast bowler in Darlot Cup this year, and he led an adequate division.

The depth of cricket ability in fourth and fifth year this year was the lowest for many years. Fortunately there are many enthusiastic boys at present in second and third year to compete for places next year.

More work needs to be done in the basic skills of the game, especially in the preparatory and middle school. Fundamentals such as grip of the bat, defensive shots on the front and back foot must be developed well before a cricketer reaches the First Eleven.

On behalf of all players I'd like to thank Mr. House for his efforts in his hard job as coach. A special thanks must also go to the ladies who prepared the lunches and afternoon teas and to the boys who assisted with the scoring.

Tennis

A Season of Mixed Success

This year was by no means a highly successful one for tennis. Although the 1st VI possessed a certain amount of depth, it didn't have the standard of players to produce a winning team. The number five and six players won most of their matches, but the other members of the team fared much worse.

However although the results for the season are not impressive, individual members of the team improved greatly during the term and if it had not been for the general lack of staying power and concentration that prevailed at times, many more matches would have been won.

In other competitions the team did somewhat better. Although our team in the Slazenger Cup competition was eliminated, the Merzell Shield team won their competition after some hard matches. Playing in these outside competitions necessitated playing Saturday mornings and Sunday afternoons, which although strenuous, did not adversely effect the standard of tennis within the school.

Training sessions improved the team, and its general standard.

The main reason, however, for any improvement was the coaching of Mr. Watkins, whose efforts throughout the season were greatly appreciated by the team. Also of great assistance was the training sessions held by Dr. Watts and Mr. Brian Bowman, who volunteered their services during the season. Mr. Bruce Robinson again coached the team this year, and his experience and coaching skills obviously had good effect.

Hockey

Some Good Teamwork

In most of the past years Christ Church hockey teams have been successful in coming in the first three places. This we knew and every member of the team worked hard to uphold this reputation.

Only three players of last year's team remained, so a whole new team had to be trained. In the first scratch match against Trinity we fielded a team of 'possibles', chosen from the house matches. We were thoroughly beaten which made us realise the size of the task ahead of us in forming a team.

With new selections and practice we lined up a fairly inexperienced side for our first official game against last year's grand finalists, Hale. With plenty of spirit and hard tackling at the start, we were unlucky to be one down at half time. After a stirring talk we were able to dominate the rest of the game and put two goals in the net.

In two weeks time we faced Trinity again and gave them a shock with our improved standard. The next match was against Scotch on a very wet and muddy field. We fought throughout but were unsuccessful. This game brought criticism which we accepted as justified.

From then we were a good side. To prove this we overpowered Wesley and Guildford convincingly and were as good as the unbeaten Aquinas side for the first half of the final game. The score was 4-1 but we were assured it was not a true indication of the game.

Apart from the achievement of coming equal third, I feel it was a successful year in other ways as well. The hard work at training, even in the rain, increased our personal skills and fitness. The spirit to work for the team and to improve as much as possible and the fact that boys from second year to fifth year worked in unison, bore fruit. This teamwork was very evident and was the greatest success we attained. Without any outstanding players, the balance achieved in the team was the key to our victories.

The main person behind our work was our coach, Mr. House. Throughout the season he taught us, urged us and was always ready to explain and help. Without a coach a team cannot progress and we sincerely thank him.

Football

The Best Year Yet

The 1971 football season at Christ Church began with the House matches which gave Mr. Watkins a chance to see the younger players and to form a team to play Guildford in a scratch match in the latter part of 1st Term as well as providing match practice for those who were leaving for Melbourne and Hobart during the holidays. The result of this first match was a win, but only by 4 points.

THE FOOTBALL TOUR.

In Melbourne we lost to Camberwell Grammar but we were treated to an excellent barbecue following the game. Earlier we had received a talk from Ron Barassi on determination and team unity and this was most valuable to the team in the coming season.

In Tasmania, Mr. Watkins worked on the 'get the ball at all costs method' hinted at by Barassi and with tremendous team spirit we won our two games against Friends. The second game was especially memorable as the team kicked 3 goals in the dying minutes of the match and we snatched victory by two points.

Our sincere thanks go to Friends for their much appreciated hospitality.

PRE-SEASON MATCHES.

This year we had two practice matches at the beginning of 2nd Term. The first was a disaster: we went out to Trinity with a team which on paper looked good but we fell away badly in the 2nd quarter to finally lose 11-10 to 15-7.

The second match was played at home against Wesley, with some positional changes from the previous week. Once again we went down, this time by the considerable margin of 38 points.

THE ALCOCK CUP.

The following week we were due to play Hale, the pre-season favourites for the cup, in the first official match. Two new players were included and some positional changes were made. We went out determined to produce the possessive pressure football which Mr. Watkins demanded, and at last the team found its form. We won convincingly 13-9 to 6-11 and this changed the team's outlook on their chances in the Alcock Cup.

During the next week we trained harder than before and on Friday we had a barbecue for the team followed by a talk from Colin Tully, who once again emphasized courage, possession and team work. We then saw films of Victorian and W.A. grand finals and went home feeling like we could beat the 'Vics'.

The next day we played good wet weather football to defeat Trinity 12-10 to 4-7 and so even up on our earlier encounter.

Our next game was a remarkable defeat which should never have happened. At Scotch, we led by 5 goals at the first change and yet finally went down 5-5 to 5-6 in appalling conditions. Michael Douglas, having a broken toe, left our ruck division rather weak.

However, we were determined not to worry about this result and with Goldacre in and Douglas injured we annihilated Guildford 19-9 to 10-9.

The next match against Wesley saw Douglas return to the team at full forward. In a desperate finish, which saw some costly misses for goal, Tim Coyle kicked the vital goal on the siren enabling us to win 10-7 to 9-8.

Hence Christ Church was in the position of sharing the Alcock Cup with Aquinas, if we could defeat them in the remaining game. At this stage Aquinas were undefeated. Tension mounted and training was frantic with Mr. Watkins and Mr. Bowker hammering the importance of possession and pressure into us. The team went out wanting desperately to win and the play developed into a fast, hard close game. At three quarter time the crowd had grown to more than three hundred spectators. We trailed by 5 points and knew that we only had our team spirit left.

In an incredible last quarter, players of both sides threw in every effort to force victory for their side. It was Aquinas who finally cracked under the pressure and although we had three players crippled by cramp, the team forced the ball forward to see Ian Avery goal and put us in front. Following this, for the final five minutes of the game, our half-forwards sprayed the goals and we won 11-16 to 11-6. We thus had the Cup in our possession for the very first time.

Best players for the year were D. Meikle, G. Green, K. Malcolm, G. Pallot, M. Fagan, T. Kay, M. Franklyn and M. Douglas all of whom received honours. Special mention to Ian Avery and Dave Carter, two young players who showed tremendous courage during the season.

Thanks also go to Mr. Watkins for his untiring and brilliant coaching and Mr. Bowker who treated our on field injuries and kept our spirit high at all times.

Rugby First XV

The 1971 season was not so successful for the First XV, due to the inexperience of many of the players. There was also a lack of the basic skills that are required to win a P.S.A. competition. This doesn't mean that the players did not give a maximum effort throughout the year. Christ Church managed to win three and draw one of the nine games played.

Keen newcomer's to the game, Colin Riley (who was even game enough to attack the coach on more than one occasion), Alan Brooks and Randy Jenkins helped overcome our needs for bigger players.

Brian Thompson and Ross Moody also proved very useful.

Mr. Hammond, brought out of retirement, built up the training lists to an all time high.

The season started with a series of practise matches and the sound of Mr. Hammond's voice stirring the side lines helped us win our first game against Trinity (17-3) and draw with Wesley (3-3).

After a bye, the team suffered a crushing defeat under a very strong Hale team in the first of the P.S.A. games.

The next week we redeemed ourselves by beating Marist College then Trinity in the following week. However Scotch, Guildford, Wesley and Aquinas proved themselves too good for us.

Our thanks are also extended to Mr. Wheeler who assisted Mr. Hammond with some of the coaching.

Best players over the season were Andy Kay, Evan Moody, Brian Thompson and Bruce Allbrook.

Special mention also goes to Brian Thompson who was selected to play in the State Under 16 side.

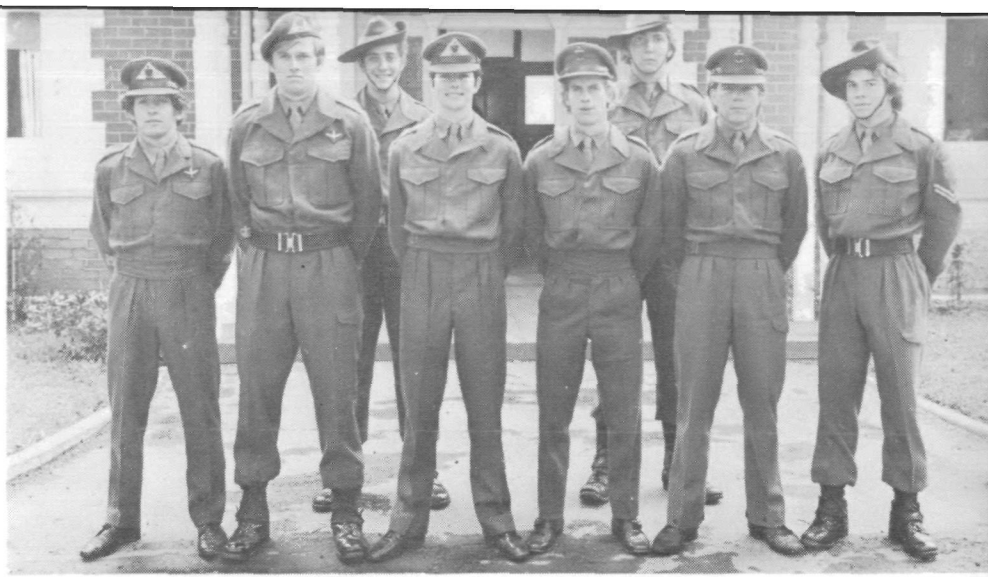

The Second XV had mixed fortunes this year winning two and drawing two of their eight games. Again this side was very young and very small. Thanks go to Mr. Thorley for coaching them.

The Middle School 'A' Rugby team coached by Mr. Francis and Mr. Zahra played consistently throughout the season winning six of their eight games and finishing third to Aquinas and Hale.

Best players were J. J. Harris, J. Wade, C. Evans and T. J. Williams.

Shooting improved this year, especially with the very good weather for the Earl Robert's and the Challenge Cup shoots. In the Challenge Cup, which is the main shooting event of the year, Christ Church improved from thirteenth to sixth position in the A division.

It is anticipated that the standard of shooting will greatly improve with the installation of a shooting tube, adjacent to the boat shed.

The basketball teams have been playing all year but the interschool competition does not begin until the third of November when we play Scotch. On the fourth we are to play Hale.

We have played four practice matches with losses to Wesley and Scotch but wins against Hale and a second match with Scotch.

Gymnastics A Vintage Year

1971 proved to be slightly different from past years as far as the State Championships were concerned. Usually Christ Church manage to win most events in most age groups, but this year we surpassed ourselves, winning all events in every age group with the single exception of the U/12 Novice. The winning teams in the U/19, U/16, U/14 Novice were as follows:

U/19: R. Payne, Y. Watt, C. Witt.

U/16: R. Payne, A. Ridley,
C. Robinson, B. Nylund.

U/14: P. Payne, L. Nylund, N. Porter,
J. Buchanan.

U/14 Novice: G. Radford, B. Silvester,
N. Porter, R. Lacaster.

The U/12 Novice team came second in their competition the members being: N. Welch, D. Mills, M. Kenworthy, K. Redmond. In the State Individual Championships C. Witt won the U/19 with R. Payne third. R. Payne also won the U/16 individuals competition. L. Nylund won the U/14 individuals competition and R. Payne and N. Porter came second and third respectively.

The Home Championships were run with very good organization and the minimum confusion, unlike most gymnastic competitions and they gave a good indication of the hard work put into the year's training; The preparatory school division which was held in the afternoon resulted in a win for N. Welch, J. Mills, second and S. Welch third and also a win for Wolsey House. The upper school competition followed that evening and the results were:

Maclagan's Cup (U/19) 1. C. Witt,
2. R. Payne, 3. Y. Watt.

Walker's Cup (U/15) 1. L. Nylund,
2. P. Curry, 3. P. Payne.

Even though all our competitions are now over the Gym Club is still training hard in preparation for the Gymnastrada at the end of the year, especially with the introduction of a new apparatus – the mini-tramp, which should prove very interesting.

In conclusion, on behalf of the club, I would like to thank the hardest working member of all, Mr. Kovacs, for the time and effort he has put in this year and special thanks must go to Mr. Zahra and the students who helped score at our competitions.

Farewell to the Wooden spoon

This season was one of limited success for the school if the under age results are taken into account but a new era seems imminent in anything to go by.

The House Sports saw Wolsey and Craigie emerge from the athletic wilderness and Queenslea fade away. Romsey once again being the Premier House.

The Quadrangular Sports was a poor showing by the school on a soft St. Louis track and we came third. Ian Avery U/15 Shot Put set a new record and John Hedges and Geoffrey Nicol also did well. Of the more 'elderly' athletes John Cramer and Tim Coyle were successful in the Open Long Jump, and most of the Shot putters also performed well.

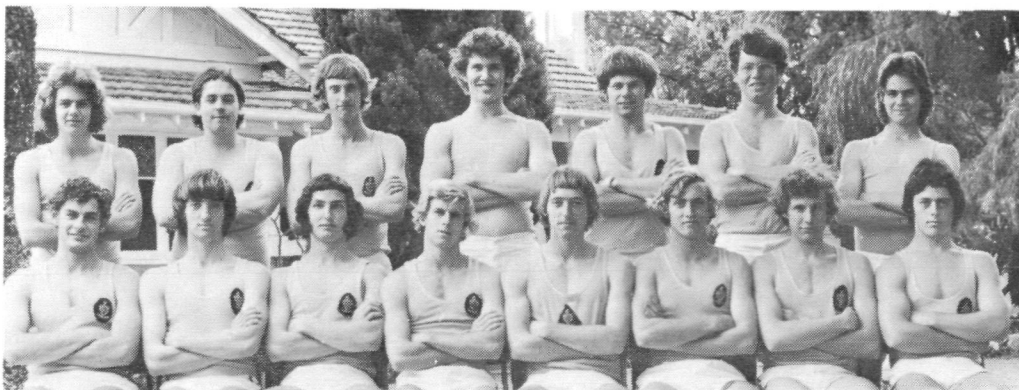

The Inters arrived and Christ Church were short priced favourites for the wooden spoon. However, due to some outstanding individual efforts and a surprising amount of team spirit we came 5th. John Hedges was the outstanding Christ Church athlete on the day winning the U/14 200m. 100m. Shot Put and running the final leg of the successful U/14 relay. Generally all our U/15 and U/14 competitors did well. Paul Rumenos won the Open Shot Put and Robert Thomson won the second division. John Cramer came equal 1st in the Open Long-Jump 2nd Division. The surprise of the meeting was Tony Wood's victory in the U/17 Hurdles after his poor showing the week before. This however was typical of the improvement shown by many on the day.

What is needed for next year is a more dedicated approach to the distance and High Jump events which were the downfall of the team.

Finally I would like to thank the coaches, Mr. Dowson, Mr. Blackwood, Mr. London, Mr. Moyes and Mr. Kovacs for their efforts during the season. Thanks also to Mr. Bowker and Mr. Barker on their handling of the team during the meeting.

The Christ Church and Methodist Ladies College Orchestra rehearsing in the Christ Church Chapel.

Music 1971

The two most important developments in the Music Department this year have been the institution of lessons on string instruments at Grade 4 level in the Preparatory School, and the amalgamation with Methodist Ladies College from First Year, so that we now have jointly a first orchestra of 45, a second orchestra of 30, and a Prep. School orchestra of 25. This gives a fair opportunity for future development. Next year there will also be a Wind Orchestra of 50.

At present there are 40 boys learning String Instruments, 60 Wind Instruments, 28 the Piano, and 8 learning the Organ, also two groups of Guitar players. In August, three evening concerts were presented in conjunction with M.L.C., consisting of the following works: Britten's opera 'The Little Sweep', Minuet & Trio from Schubert's 5th Symphony, orchestral suite from 'The Beggar's Opera', Haydn's 'Toy Symphony', Mozart's Contradance for Wind Orchestra and Six Marches for Wind by C.P.E. Bach.

On 5th December the first orchestra and the choirs of M.L.C. and Christ Church will perform Schubert's 'Mass in F', Pastoral Symphony and Chorale from Bach's 'Christmas Oratoria', Trumpet Concerto with String Orchestra by Handel, 'Greensleeves', three Sinfonias for Brass and Organ by Monteverdi and 'Jesu Joy of Man's Desiring' by Bach.

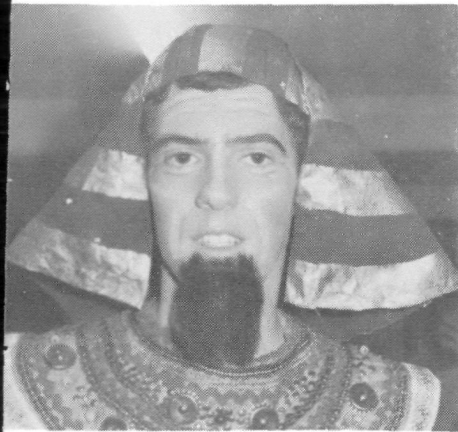

Plans for 1972 include the formation of a Music Club.

The Cadet Unit

Special Services Wing.

This year the Special Services Wing became more adventurous in their attempts at the Adventure Training Award. As well as completing their basic training in fieldcraft, tactics and drill they achieved success in their Confidence and Observation Course tests. The two day 'stroll' of fourteen miles was one of the new tasks before them, but the S.S.W. took it in their stride. With the minor exceptions of the loss of two sections (including members of the intelligence and signals sections) and a thorough soaking the tactical march gave them valuable experience.

During Second Term the S.A.S. again provided some instruction on cliff roping which, in the latest fashion of baggy shorts, inspired many cadets to great heights or depths.

Camp again provided the main climax to a good year's training, with the wing demonstrating the various methods of ambush, patrol and contact drills to all the schools in camp. Congratulations to the cadets who passed the tough Observation and Confidence Course tests, and who will join the slowly increasing ranks of those who have the Adventure Training Award.

'A' Company Notes.

This year for the first time, there was a bivouac as well as a training weekend at Mt. Claremont. The extra time meant that the unit paraded only every second Wednesday—a popular move.

The weekend bivouac at Byford was unfortunately marred by bad weather. A 'war' between one and two platoon took place on Saturday. By lunch time each platoon had made a thorough 'recce' of the opposition's camp. After a hearty meal of bully beef one platoon attacked two platoon's camp, then playing to the rules they retaliated with an assault on one platoon's base. The operation was centred around the signals and intelligence sections. Fortunately the medics section was not needed. The operation was a great success and it was thoroughly enjoyed.

The August camp took a somewhat different form due to the greater time involved.

A series of independent activities were organised which centred mainly around fieldcraft.

The bivouac site was near a farm and C.U.O. Cramer and L/C P. C. Roberts bought and slaughtered a sheep which made a welcome addition to the rations. A company was somehow also well supplied with fresh oranges.

The camp ended with a barbecue in the bivouac area which was the best the cadets had attended on an army exercise.

'B' Company Notes.

'B' Company is traditionally the introduction to the Cadet Unit for third years. Their stay is for one year during which they gain experience in such areas as living in the bush, working as a team and learning to help and understand their fellows.

The highlights of the year were the 'flood' weekend at Byford and the bivouac in the Annual Camp.

The Company was seen to improve as the year progressed and reached its peak during the annual camp at Northam, a credit to those cadets who attended.

In concluding, it could be said, those cadets, who didn't enjoy their year should have made more of their opportunities.

One thing seems to haunt the Cadet Notes each year, and that is the farewelling of some of the Officers of Cadets. This year we unfortunately have to bid farewell to our O.C. Major Pate, who has inspired the whole Cadet Unit during his period as an Officer of Cadets, and we will miss his humour which appeared on all occasions. We also must thank our two company commanders, Captain Hewett and Captain Menzies, who are also retiring, for a job well done.

Chess

The Chess Club this year has held two meetings each week, one for Middle-School boys and one mainly for Upper-School boys to fit in with sports training sessions. The attendance at the Upper-School meetings was disappointing, and after the first few weeks the numbers dwindled considerably.

The Middle-School response was more enthusiastic, and in fact all the members of the 'B' team and one of the 'A' team were from first and second year. These teams were entered in the Secondary 'A' League and the Secondary Reserve League. The 'B' team came equal second in their league, a very good performance. In particular Peter Reynolds won ten games, drew one and lost one through the whole season, which augers well for future years.

The 'A' team's performance was less brilliant. We finished eighth on the ladder. Stuart Parkinson had the best individual record here with seven wins to three losses on fourth board and Michael Millward, a first year boy, performed very creditably on second board. Next year with the same team more experienced, we hope to do much better.

An inter-house chess tournament is being instituted this year. We hope it will become a regular event.

Our thanks go to Mr. Whittaker, who organized the club, arranged our matches and encouraged us through the year.

Debating

This year's Federation Debating saw the introduction of 'impromptu' debates for which the teams only had thirty minutes preparation. This new system is more demanding than the one previously in use but most certainly results in keener competition and better debating as the teams are forced to rely on their own resources and initiative.

The school team was selected as Philip House, John Cramer and Reg Meyer with J. Webb, E. Barrett-Lennard (who acted as Chairman) and R. Pontifex as reserves. We debated away against M.L.C. Penhros (affirming 'That parenthood is no longer a joy'), at home against St. Mary's (affirming 'That Australia is a lucky country') and at home against John Curtain (again affirming 'That pollution is over publicized'). We lost all three debates possibly because we just could not cope with the skill and feminine logic of our predominantly female opponents, after all we only met two other male debaters in all the contest.

House debating this year was run in first term with the finals being held on Open Day. Romsey won from Craigie, then Queenslea and Wolsey.

The team enjoyed the social aspects of debating and its intellectual challenge, the boarders who supported us enjoyed the supper at Penhros, and we all enjoyed Mr. Wheeler's futile navigation en route to Penhros. However, we feel that this activity can be much better supported by the school. It is embarrassing when the audience consists almost exclusively of your opponent's supporters, and we also feel that many more at school should at least try debating. It is a challenging activity and one which does much to promote inter-school social activities. It can be, despite its nervous tension, an extremely enjoyable competitive 'sport'.

FILM SOCIETY

This year the Film Society was revived by a Committee of 4th year boys helped by Mr. Dowson. Activities commenced in Second Term, with a membership of almost 200. Throughout the year about 25 feature films were used.

By presenting a wide range of quality films the Society hopes to help members increase their understanding and develop their powers of judgment, with relation to films as communication and as art. From this it is hoped boys will become more selective in their choice of films. This is essential when it is considered that the average boy in Australia watches over 18 hours of films on television every week.

With our world being increasingly dominated by the projected image rather than the printed word, UNESCO'S study of 'The Media and the Rights of the Child' (1963) is relevant. There it is asserted that screen education is the most effective way of helping young people cope with the 20th century.

Films from Japan, England, Russia, Italy, U.S.A., Cuba, India, France and Australia have been shown. Attendance has generally been very good, although films with foreign sound tracks and subtitles have not appealed to the boys very much. However, appreciation of different and complex films is a slow process. For this reason discussions were very limited until the end of the year unfortunately, and magazines and printed notes provided most of the follow up material. However, discussions must become an integral part of the Society's activities. With the experience gained this year, our Society should be very productive next year.

This year's committee of Bassett, Caddy, Christie, Fagan, Grigg, Lemann, McGibbon, Pearse, Rose and Sloan, along with O'Dea, Stein and Herman as First, Second and Third year representatives deserve to be congratulated for the results their hard work has achieved.

SOCIAL SERVICE

Again our most consistent and most rewarding activity has been the weekly visits to the Lucy Creeth Hospital.

We have found by experience that this can most successfully be carried out by a select few who are best able to establish rapport with the patients and to organize their own roster and transport.

For most of the year a second group assisted at the Claremont Hospital where the pastoral centre was trying to build up a library. Here too a small group who were self-sufficient proved to be the most effective.

Once more we supplied collectors for the Red Cross Door Knock Appeal in March, and then were asked to assist the Salvation Army in its Red Shield Appeal. This involved us in far more organization as it was run from the school. In August we provided a rostered group of street collectors to help the Royal Life Saving Society.

Altogether, the money raised by the boys on these occasions plus the amounts from our own collections within the school, totalled something like $3,000 — solid support for the various charities.

MATHEMATICAL ACTIVITIES.

Mathematically, 1971 has been a good year.

The W.A. Mathematics Association inaugurated a Student's Mathematics Competition for both Seniors and Juniors, which took the form of a problem solving contest.

In the Senior Section, C.R. Leedman obtained second place with A. Hill, J. Graham and J. Summers all obtaining cash prizes. In the Junior Section, C. Robinson obtained first prize with W. Sands and N.P. Silberstein obtaining cash prizes.

The next event on the Mathematics calendar was the Student's Mathematics Talent Quest. Many boys had been working on projects throughout the year and a few of these were submitted. To obtain a prize is quite difficult as most prize winning entries are generally of an original nature. Congratulations go to A. Hill who obtained 1st Prize in the Senior Individual section and to J. Summers who was third.

Congratulations also to L.F. Yu who is one of 5 students from this State selected to attend the annual Mathematics Enrichment Course in Canberra. In addition J. Graham and G. Cullingford have been selected to attend a similar course at the W.A. University.

I.S.C.F. NOTES.

I.S.C.F. activities throughout the year were very varied and included a barbecue in first term, discussions, films and guest speakers. Some of the highlights of the year included a challenge meeting on the topic of the relevance of Christianity in the school, a talk on the Jesus Revolution and some open discussions on school problems, all of which generated considerable interest within the school.

Finally the committee thanks Mr. Morrissy for his guidance throughout the year.

RADIO CLUB.

After a fairly good opening for the club, interest waned. Our attempt to repair Mr. Fraser's car radio had an unexpected result: the sale of the car. Our contribution towards Open Day was more successful.

Individually, however, members seem to be going ahead well. John Masters built an oscilloscope and an extra-high tension power supply. Malcolm Sides has also built a power supply and has begun preliminary experiments in electronic music. Alan Smith has begun to build a high fidelity audio setup and has also experimented in recording techniques, while Trev. Cooksley has mainly concentrated in the making of high power amplifiers and modulated lights (musicolour).

BUSINESS GAME.

Students in IVth Year Economics were involved in a computer controlled series of 'Business Games' sponsored by International Computers Ltd. and the Institute of Chartered Accountants. Most of the State Secondary Schools competed.

Congratulations go to the team that represented the School at the finals, for their narrow but well deserved win.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB.

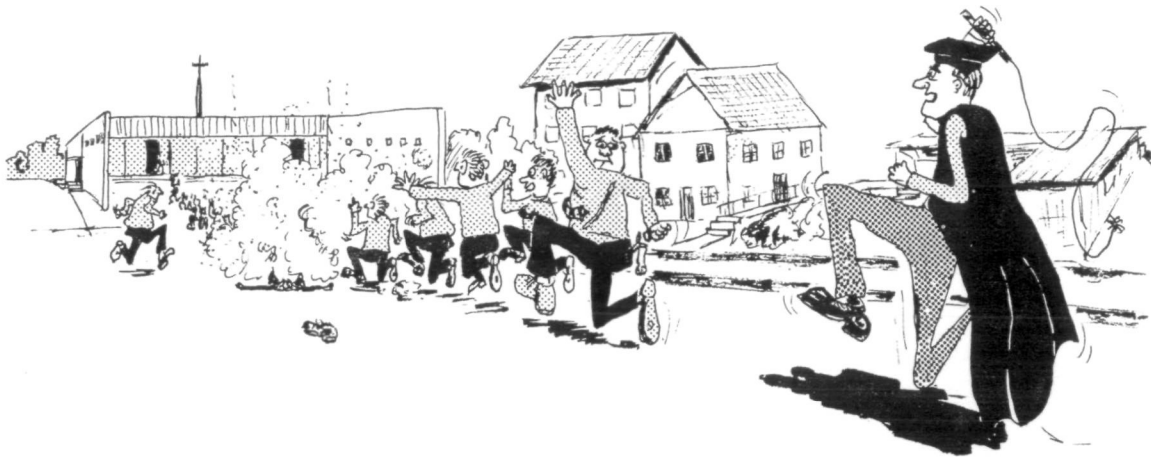

A small select group, the photographers this year were more concerned with working together in the practical aspects of field and dark-room techniques than with theoretical matters. Most school functions were covered and some excellent prints produced and used in both 'Mitre' and 'The Chronicle'.

THE "TUCKY"

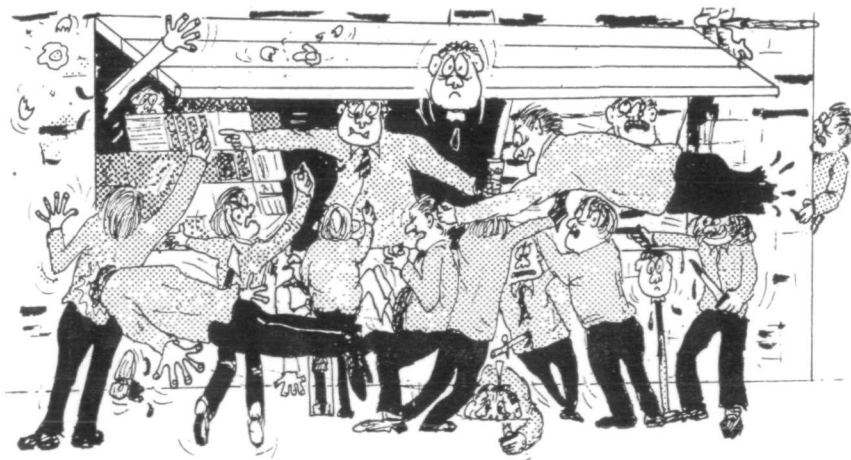

A year of change change in stock, (which seemed to constantly wander off on trolleys) change in the drink supply (with the acquisition of a new vending machines in term three) change in committee, change in profits ($148 in term one, $8 in term two and well on the way to an all time record in term three) and a temporary change in manager.

. In fact the only thing that didn't change was its popularity.

The Boarder's Year

The majority of the House this year involved itself at some time or other, in adding some colour and depth to the school community as a whole.

In the swimming team were Ian Avery and Ashleigh Seow; in athletics – Paul Rumenos, Tim Coyle, Robert Thompson, Bruce and Ian Williams, Peter Butler and Steve Williams and in shooting, Eddy Barrett-Lennard. Outside the school the Stanton brothers performed well in Little Athletics with the Javelin.

Along more academic lines, Reg Meyer was in the Federation Debating, Stuart Parkinson and Bryce Nock were in the chess teams while Ian Robson reached the semi-finals of a public speaking contest, and lost his appendix. Stuart Parkinson and Chris Stevenson both won prizes in the Science Talent Quest. and Mike Taylor won a prize in the Art Exhibition (photography). Eddy Barrett-Lennard took several roles in the play 'The First Born'.

Socials were much more informal with very few dances throughout the year. Most time was spent 'down the fence'.

In School administration and societies Paul Rumenos, Tim Coyle and Reg Meyer were Prefects while Eddy and Hugh Barrett-Lennard, Gary George, Stuart Parkinson and Bob Prior were sergeants or better in the Cadet Unit. Ian Richmond was on the Social Service Committee while Eddy Barrett-Lennard and Ian Avery served on the Chapel Committee. Reg Meyer created the School Paper 'Spout Forth'.

For House administration this year our thanks go to Mr. Burns especially for the use of his tape recording equipment and Mr. Laurent, Mr. Harrison and Mrs. Whitehead. Mr. MacLeod, Mr. Lockwood and Mr. Feast also deserve mention as part-time housemasters.

Finally the prefects wish the best of luck to those not returning next year and to those coming back to Queenslea.

All in all a good year for both the academically and sporting minded. Would-be delinquents found the going a bit rough when thundery conditions prevailed.

At the beginning of the year the Prefects experienced some slight opposition from the rest of the fifth year boarders in the matter of authority and those few small privileges which distinguishes the ruling class from the 'plebs'. However, law and order triumphed, despite the low cunning of those who baited an all-too-tempting tin of Milo with powdered laxettes and left it in the pre's common room. While we queued and sat we plotted revenge but our better natures won out and we refrained.

We wish those ambitious fourth years who are waiting to take our places the best of luck. At the rate of four biscuits a day the job of Pre. may not be the best paid but it has other compensations – "Little Algeria" for instance, otherwise known as the Pre's common room.

In the sporting field McClemons provided some of the school's more prominent leaders – the captains of football, rugby and cricket, for example. It also turned out that five out of the eight house prefects were elected as School Prefects.

The efficient running of the house was guaranteed throughout the year by Miss Hayes who kept it in a polished state and Mrs. Cramer who not only kept us respectably clothed but survived her first year in McClemons and remained cheerful, efficient and sane.

Finally from the foc'sle a word of thanks to those on the bridge; Mr. Hammond whose had was continually on the helm (?) and to Mr. Turnbull, Mr. Draper and Mr. Dowson who managed to restrain themselves from keel-hauling too many crew members.

Life Saving

Fully Involved

Life saving is one activity which involves every boy in the School as the award lists in the record section of this magazine show. It is also reflected in the increasing size of the teams we enter in competitive events and in the fact that Christ Church has won the Royal Life Saving Society's award for the school making the greatest contribution to Life Saving for three out of the four years in which the pennant has been given in this State.

This year for the first time we conducted an inter-house life saving carnival, a highly successful event in which a great many boys took part. From these competitors we selected the largest single representation ever to compete in the Royal Life Saving State Championships at Beatty Park. While the team produced no outstanding performances it filled many places. Best prospects for the future seem to lie with the Junior boys as our under thirteen and under fourteen team finished second to a very strong Guildford team.

At this event, Malcolm McGibbon and Garry Pallot defended their State titles in the Chambers Cup and Australia Cup events respectively but both lost to Simon Martin, one of our younger Old Boys.

Garry Pallot, the team captain won selection for the State team which competed in the Australian Championships in Queensland in January. A pleasing feature of this team of six was that three were Christ Church students, past and present.

In the two other main events, in which we competed for the Law Shield and the McFarlane Cup (open and under sixteen rescue events) we were beaten by strong teams.

Essentially life saving is a community service and with this ideal in mind we have continued to preserve a balance between competition and wide student participation.

The Preparatory School

At the start of the year Mr. Dowson joined the Senior School and Mrs. R. Mortlock came to us to take charge of the Copper class. 281 boys fronted up for the first day of the year and a further ten have joined us since. Altogether 1971 has been a happy and productive year with several successful innovations.

One important change concerns the Mitre and the Preparatory School contributions to it. Last year the 'Prep. Paper' provided an avenue for the literary and artistic efforts of the students. Copy was provided from all classes and the production was in the hands of the Grade 7 students. This year the 'Prep. Paper' was continued, at first by the Grade 7 boys, but more recently by the Grade 6's. This freed the Grade 7 editorial staff, who had had the experience of producing the cyclostyled newspaper, to bring out a printed Preparatory School Magazine geared for young readers. Under the guidance of Mr. Matthews, the boys have produced the first edition of 'Freshwater'. Apart from being a record of student efforts, this has given the boys total experience in magazine production. They planned the thing themselves, chose and rejected copy, organized the artistic work and the layout, and even did the actual typing of the stories and poems themselves. So it can be said honestly that 'Freshwater' is the boys' own magazine, and the boys concerned deserve praise for launching this new venture. With its introduction the Preparatory School literary contributions to the 'Mitre' have been discontinued. 'Freshwater' has already stimulated interest in the reporting of events, and the writing of poems and stories, and this has brought a purposeful approach to creative writing throughout the school.

This year has seen also our first step in film-making in the Preparatory School with another group of Grade 7 students. Using their own ideas, a tape recorder and an 8-millimetre movie camera the boys began this venture early in Third Term. They soon found it necessary to do a good deal of research into camera techniques, script writing, film editing and so on, so another very useful and productive activity was the outcome. In this sort of project the end product is incidental to the activities related to it. The important thing is that a number of students have had real experience in this very important medium of communication. Their minds and their imaginations have been engaged and extended.

During Second Term the Preparatory School Orchestra gave us its first 'recital' by playing for a hymn during the morning Chapel Service. Since then it has practiced hard, and performed during a concert at Wesley College, and several of its members have given instrumental items in the chapel from time to time. It has taken a good deal of patient instruction and guidance to get to this stage, and this is just the beginning. It is expected that through the choir and the orchestra, music will play an increasing part in our day to day school life in future.

1971 has been an active year in the sense that the boys have taken more direct responsibility for the various projects undertaken. In most cases the boys themselves have provided the initiative, and the outcome has been all the better for this, but activity has also been stimulated by prizes provided for Art by Mrs. J. Dowson and for Australian history projects by Mr. Peter Dodds. A prize has also been endowed by the parents of last years P1 class in memory of Kim Morrison who was accidentally drowned. It is to be awarded to the boy who has made an outstanding contribution to the work of the Preparatory School library.

We are very grateful to them for their continued interest in the Preparatory School.

Cricket

The first XI enjoyed a very successful season winning our three matches against Guildford, Aquinas and Scotch. In the first match of the year we played Guildford and won well despite having many of our best players out because of the swimming sports. The scores were C.C.G.S. 9 for 47 defeated G.G.S. 5 for 37. Boysted played well for 13 runs.

In the match against Aquinas we batted first and made a sound 66 for the loss of six wickets. Breidahl top scoring with 21. Hoysted scored 13 for the second match in succession and Seward retired for 11. In this match Breidahl and Thackwell both 3 wickets.

In the final match we scored a very easy win. Scotch batted first and made 10/64. We batted really well with top scorers being Breidahl 38 not out and O'Shaughnessy 23 not out.

This year the 1st XI has continued its good record. We have lost only 1 game in the past 3 years. This was against Scotch in 1969 when we lost by one run. Of the bowlers I thought Kerry Thackwell was the best. He was well backed up by Peter Seward and Richard Breidahl.

We owe our deepest thanks to Mr. Gifford for coaching us.

Tennis

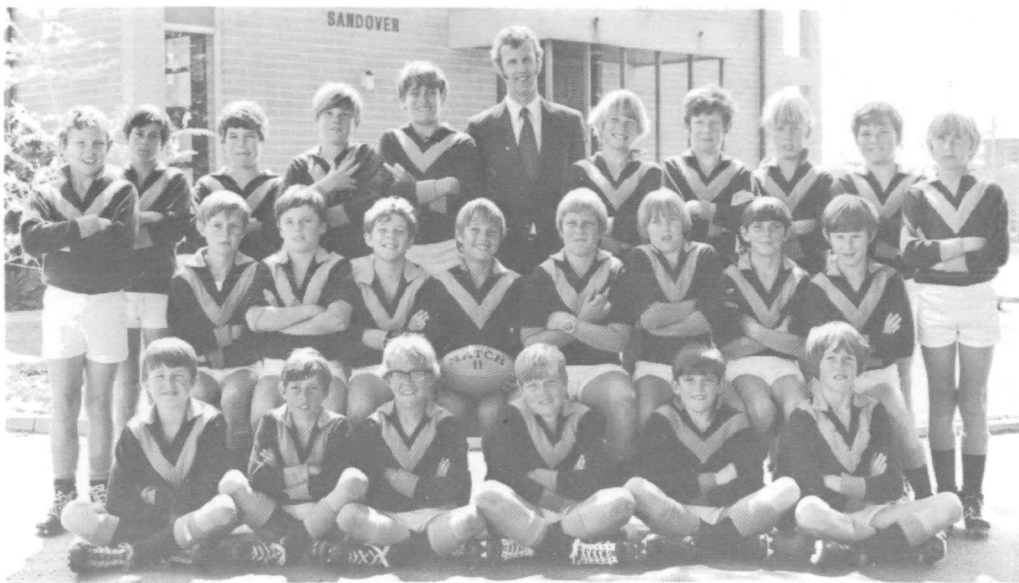

During first term our Prep School tennis team were determined to get into the quarter finals and we did. We had to play a strong team from Swanbourne and we played well against them but we didn't win a match. The scores were 9/2 to them in the 'A' doubles and 9/0 in the 'B'. In the singles the scores were 9/7 in my match, 9/3 in Hoysted's match, 9/0 in Eyres match and 9/5 in the last match.

The 'B' team weren't as successful and they were defeated in the first round by the eventual winners who were Trinity. Altogether I think it was a most enjoyable season and both teams did very well. The teams were as follows:

'A' TEAM: Boyle, Hoysted, Eyres and Mouritz.

'B' TEAM: Barrett, Annear, Shellabear and Etherington.

Football 1st XVIII

The 1st XVIII enjoyed a very successful season after being beaten easily by Aquinas, in the first match. After that poor game we lost only one match and that was to Trinity. In one match, against Guildford we won by nearly twenty goals. In this game everyone played as a team for the first time. We also recorded easy wins against Hale and Scotch winning both matches by about seven goals. In the game against Trinity we started poorly and at quarter time Trinity had what was to be a winning break. During the remainder of the game we played slightly better than the opposition, but we were unable to narrow the gap.

At the end of the season we had the lightning premiership. In our first game we just beat St. Louis. But in the semi-final against Aquinas we lost by 2 points after playing much better football.

INTER-HOUSE ATHLETICS.

The Inter-House Athletics were held on Thursday 30th September.

Event No. 13 on the programme was the final of the U/9 50 metres, which was won by a Romsey competitor – T.J. Woodall. No records were broken in the U/9 50 metres. In the U/10 50 metres, the best time was 8.5 seconds which was run by R.R. Gunning, a Craigie competitor. M.R. Alderson came in strongly in the 55 metre hurdles with an inaugural record of 11.7 seconds. In the U/13 100 metres, G.A. Bingemann set a new record of 14.1 seconds.

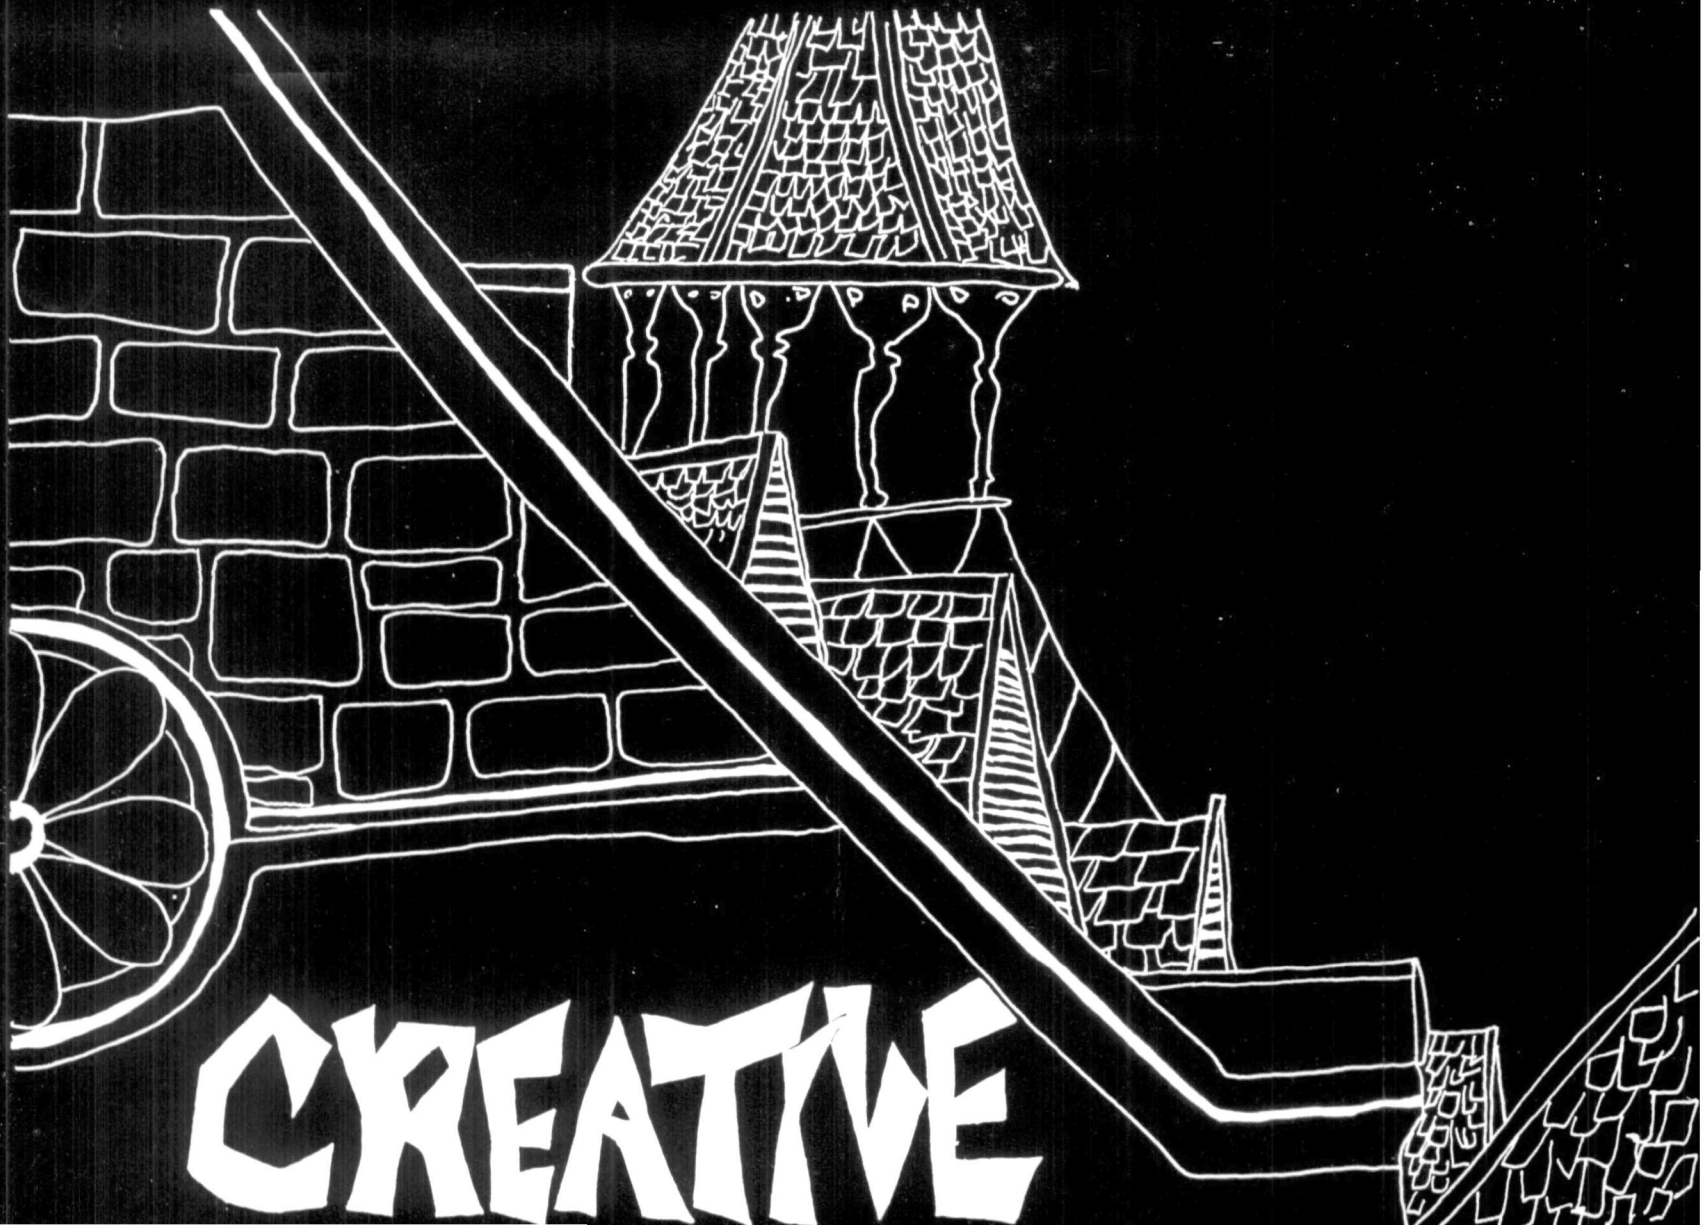

INTER-SCHOOL ATHLETICS.

All the C.C.G.S. competitors tried hard in their events during the first meet. Although Aquinas were very strong, Christ Church kept up to them in all events. In the second meet we were successful, winning a number of U/9, U/10, U/11 and U/12 events. It was a disappointment to have Mark Bingemann, the Prep School's fastest sprinter away for the U/13 100 metres sprint. The substitute was R. Wilson, who tried extremely hard but was unsuccessful in gaining a place. In the shuttle relays and the U/9 4 x 50 metres, C.C.G.S. won both 'A' and 'B' divisions. The boys should thank the teachers for an exciting and most enjoyable athletics season.

EPITAPH FOR A PINE TREE

*A tree is dying
how short a time
it was when it was tall
green and strong
now from the top
its verdure is dying its branches bare against the horizon
the weak rays of the sun pouring down upon the fungus which is spreading its death
over the tree's bulk soon all the leaves will be gone
but the fungus
will continue to consume
the wood
the branches will curl up and the tree will die then the Man with his roaring many-toothed monster will come and take the tree and hide it from view obliterating all traces in a fire.*

'COSMONAUT'

Alexei was stunned. Despite all the assurances of the technicians back home in Mother Russia, his take-off capsule had refused to function.

He had landed three days before, the first Russian cosmonaut to touch the surface of the moon. His mission had been accomplished successfully and on schedule. And now — this!

He radioed once more but again Comrade Alexandrovitch informed him that, yes, another rocket was being launched, and, no, it would not arrive for forty-eight hours at the least.

Alexei looked at the oxygen pressure gauge. Enough for forty-six hours. So near and yet so far. Still as a true Communist should, he diverted his thoughts from his imminent demise and concentrated on reading Marx's 'Das Kapital' in the original German.

Twelve hours and two chapters of 'Das Kapital' later he rose and descended the ladder onto the harsh, forbidding landscape.

'O God,' thought Alexei and then ironically remembered there was not supposed to be one. 'What shall I do. I'll never see the snow in the Red Square, never go skating in Novosibirsk with Marie and Leysha again. Why, why me?' cried his anguished soul.

A voice spoke in his ear phones.

'What are you blathering about, Comrade? If you're worried what do you think I am? I'll get shot for this. You know what's wrong?'

'No,' replied Alexei, subdued.

'Some misbegotten lackey of the capitalists forgot to put in any liquid oxygen. I ask you, what's this country coming to?'

'I don't care about the country, what about me?'

'Oh, haven't you heard you've been made a Hero of the Soviet Socialist Republic and awarded the Order of Lenin. Nice going!'

'That's a lot of use to me. I want to go home!' Alexei broke into sobs.

'Ah, come now Comrade, that's treason. I'll have you shot if you don't take more care.'

'Why not ask the Americans to rescue me, they have better equipment?'

'The Americans! Now you are surely losing your sanity, Comrade. Think of the ignominy and disgrace to the State.'

'The State be damned. It isn't going to die in —' he consulted his watch — 'about twenty hours time.'

'I'll not listen to sedition. Goodbye and good luck!'

'Farewell, Comrade, give my love to Russia.'

Then static filled his earphones and Alexei was alone again.

He wept.

A VISION

There was wind, and spray; there was salt and wind and spray and they lifted up off the rocks and flew with grace and they died, disappearing into a blue background of sky which filtered the reflected heat of the waves and made the spray sparkle as it cried its way up, up, to invisibility. But it was not gone it was cool and kind and it rested on her face and she loved its soothing touch. The crystal carpet of salt long left by the burdened waves lay around her feet and it cracked and shattered like spider webs beneath her feet. She moved and she was lit, lit with a shivering outline which stemmed from the speckled silver spray. Her hair flowed long and straight in the wind and it leapt out with the wind and snatched at the water droplets as they were swept by, pushed by the roar of the open sky. And as she moved a rhythm of life and law went curling along the shore with her, and her feet moved but she stood still in the picture of the never changing horizon.

ALL THAT MATTERS

*If you see a freak, with a hump-back
or one leg or cruelly distorted face
what do you feel?
happiness
fear pity spite cruelty sadness
but if you walk up to him
and look into his eyes
you will see what he really is — — a human being.*

THE DEPTHS

*Flowerlike anemones sway in the current.
Fishes float, magically suspended.
Enchanted gardens of brilliant coral ringed by gentle swaying seaweeds
Merge in a translucent, refracting horizon.
Bedazzled, you move closer.*

*Tiny fish play hide and seek.
Lace work coral hides glory cones,
An octopus puts forth a cautious tentacle –
it floats out limply innocently.
A multi-hued parrot fish springs out,
Flashing colour breaks the panorama;
And vanishes under the staghorn corals.
The gently hues merge, ever transient, ever a unity
Beauty is in the depths.*

DEATH

*"You are the Alpha,"
(That hell in the dark pits of your eyes knows no bounds)
"And the Omega;"
(Those gaping jaws are open in the endless scream that is death)
"Thou sittest on the left hand of God"
(The bleached face dark in the shadow of the cowl, the skeletal hand resting on the sickle, the hourglass motionless)
"From whence thou shalt come"
(With stealth, swiftness and an unerring, unrelenting hand)
"To judge the quick"
(Their time is short, for the sand grains tumble fast)
"And the dead."
(And as each grain falls, a soul ascends).*

SOMBRE

*The sky above is black,
The pit before is black,
A black wind blows with icy chill –
The sun has set.
The stones are all of grey,
The way ahead is black.
The way behind is shut.
It is black before.
No stars dare to show,
No light breaks the gloom.
The pit before is black.
It is the time.*

View from the Bridge

As far as my little brother was concerned, the Head of the River Regatta was not good enough. This was not entirely its fault – the overcast which developed was an act of God. Nevertheless, it could have made a better show from the air, so as to attract more planes.

For my little brother, there is no pleasure greater than to be out of doors when an aeroplane is passing between him and the sun, so he can watch its shadow moving at hundreds of miles an hour.

When he heard I was going to the Head of the River, he came too. It almost came up to his expectations. After a search for a good vantage point, we hung over the rail of the Narrows Bridge, and watched the shadows of a newsplane and an endlessly circling machine trailing a banner which read INVEST. INVEST IN THE  LOAN NOW. Blurred by altitude and speed to transitory cruciforms they flicked across the coiled roads and yellow grass to vault and vanish up the cliff to King's Park.

Others may have had a better time. There was a contest to see how many yachts and launches could be moored side by side in a straight line; blue boats marked POLICE were trying for a long-distance record using the yachts as markers for their measured laps; a mighty mob was gathering along the shore for an attach on the Swan Brewery.

It was this that made me decide to leave before trouble started.

Portrait of a School Teacher

A drab looking man, our schoolteacher, stood at the front of the class. His hair was silky white and very short, and his face showed deep lines, which I reflected could have come from countless years of frustration and worry. His blue eyes no longer sparkled in the sunlight but were bloodshot and tired looking, perhaps he'd been up till all hours of the morning correcting work. He wore a very conservative grey suit, a white shirt, and tie. If shoes were any judge of a man's character Mr. Brown would come off very favourably for his black shoes shone brilliantly.

"Turn to page 471" he said and when we had done so he went about the tiresome job of explaining to us how to divide by fractions. I felt almost sorry for him, standing out there trying to drum something into us which to him was elementary. How annoyed he must feel I thought when someone who had previously been playing with his mate, puts up his hand and says "Please sir I don't understand."

While we went on to put the theory of Page 471 into practice Mr. Brown started writing questions on the board which would be I guessed, for our English period. Sitting there watching him move his hand endlessly across the board, I wondered whether Mr. Brown got any joy out of teaching. Why he had probably written these same words last year and the year before that and would keep on writing them for as long as he taught this grade. But maybe he felt a great amount of happiness in the simple task of teaching his children something new.

"Jewkes have you finished your problems?" his voice echoed around the bare walls of the poorly furnished room.

"Well, er, no sir, but I was just . . ."

"That's enough lad, you'll stay in and finish them after school."

"Beep-Beep." My automatic clock wakes me from a deep slumber. Fifty years ago I am told people woke up enthusiastically, thinking of things that would excite them in the day to come, but I unwillingly step on a little square in the centre of my room and all my clothes are sucked from the cupboard. I slowly dress, thinking that my parents, when they were at school had to dress in school uniform. My fingers fumble as I place my foot in the shoe, probably because they are only used for pushing buttons. I think to myself "I will have to write to the Governor today and ask that his slaves invent an automatic dresser." I pity those slaves, life imprisonment just for expressing their ideas in public, that we should return to the old way of life.

I walk lethargically down the passage and stumble into the kitchen exhausted. I press the button marked 'breakfast' and two small tablets roll down into my hand. I observe that all my fingernails are gone but swallow the tablet.

The haze over the city as I walk out of my oval shaped house chokes me, so I stand on the conveyer belt footpath and press a button marked 'oxygen'. The ride to school lasts only two micros, known fifty years ago as three minutes.

No boys or girls are out at the front of the school playing because there is no room to play, but my mother still remembers the time she played hockey. "Sport", I shouted, "a useless waste of time, running around and wasting energy."

I walk into the school, put on some earphones and listen to some Maths for five micros, then English and finally History. There is no need to learn science as all the discoveries are done by the slaves.

After school, which lasts fifteen micros, I am carried outside the school and begin the trek back home. A stand with flashing lights relays to me that three men have landed on Pluto.

I arrive home without greeting my five brothers and sisters and lie down to sleep, exhausted after a long day lasting twenty micros. For the rest of the day I will sleep, and the next day will be exactly the same as today. It has been like this now for fifteen years and deep down I wish we could go back to the free and varied life my mother and father secretly describe to me.

SURRENDER

*His cavalier soul always floated over simple things.
No opinion strong enough, remark cruel enough glued his eagle winged spirit to a nest of fear and restraint.
His spirit screeched and beat the air and echoed in the valleys of tired and frightened stone;
flew and raged against the wind that sprang from the stone and the wind could not hold it nor slow it.*

*But the winters came colder and froze into pellets of persistent pain.
And as they hailed on him
his wings grew weaker,
and the wind slowed him.
An though he felt the nemesis of Icarus
he could not place the hubris, and as that god
he fell to his nest
of fear and restraint.*
