In Memory

MR ROSS GRAHAM

Mr Ross Graham began his association with Christ Church in January, 1969, when he became a member of the School Council as the Archbishop of Perth's nominee.

Mr Graham joined the Westralian Farmers Co-operative in April, 1955, and became Divisional Manager of Finance in 1959. He continued in this position and on the Boards of many subsidiary companies until his death in January, 1978. As a member of the Finance Committee of Council, he brought to its deliberations a wealth of experience.

He was a keen tennis player and as a member of the Council team, he enjoyed his matches with the 1st VIII.

Mr Graham, having no direct connection with the school, brought an independent mind to bear upon school finance and his services were invaluable.

MR ROGER PRICE

Roger Stuart Price was first associated with the school as a parent in 1954. He became a member of the Committee of the Parents' Association, its Treasurer and later its President and a Life Member.

In 1963, Mr Price became the Parents' Association Representative on the School Council, and in January, 1967, when his youngest son left school, he was elected by the Synod of the Diocese of Perth to the Council. In December, 1968, he became Treasurer and a year later was elected Vice-Chairman; both of these positions he held until his death on 13th September of this year.

Many senior boys will remember him for he was a member of the Council Tennis team and last played in 1977 at the age of 68.

He has served Christ Church well and was truly one of its benefactors.

THE PREFECTS

(L-R) P. M. Smith; R. J. Lewis; R. P. Smith; A. D. J. Smith; N. B. Forrester; S. J. Annear; R. J. Crossing (Captain of School); Mr. P. M. Moyes; J. V. R. Adamson; A. B. McGowan; K. W. Zink; S. O. Isbel; J. I. Barrett-Lennard; A. H. Dixon.

ACHIEVING THE 1978 AIMS

Just before the start of the school year, the Prefects' committee met with a number of staff members to discuss objectives for the coming year. During that weekends' meeting at Koorinal it was decided that we would try to achieve three objectives.

These were (in no particular order): To do as well as, or better, than last year in all sports and activities; to help the student who is a 'loner', or who doesn't 'fit it', to improve the 'climate' for study in the school, and especially the attitude towards the hard working student who could at times be the butt for the less industrious.

In trying to achieve these objectives, the committee soon realized that there was often little we could do, other than try to be exemplary.

To those who measure the school year by its sporting record, what was 1978? In that light, it could be seen as a year of little achievements, but as I have implied, school is more than sport.

Following a year like 1977, when sporting achievements were the predominant ones, it is easy to misjudge 1978.

In sport there was a remarkable level of 'spirit' and determination in all areas, but ability (and luck?) was sometimes lacking.

On helping the students who did not fit in too well, the committee would discuss particular students, and decide from there how we could help.

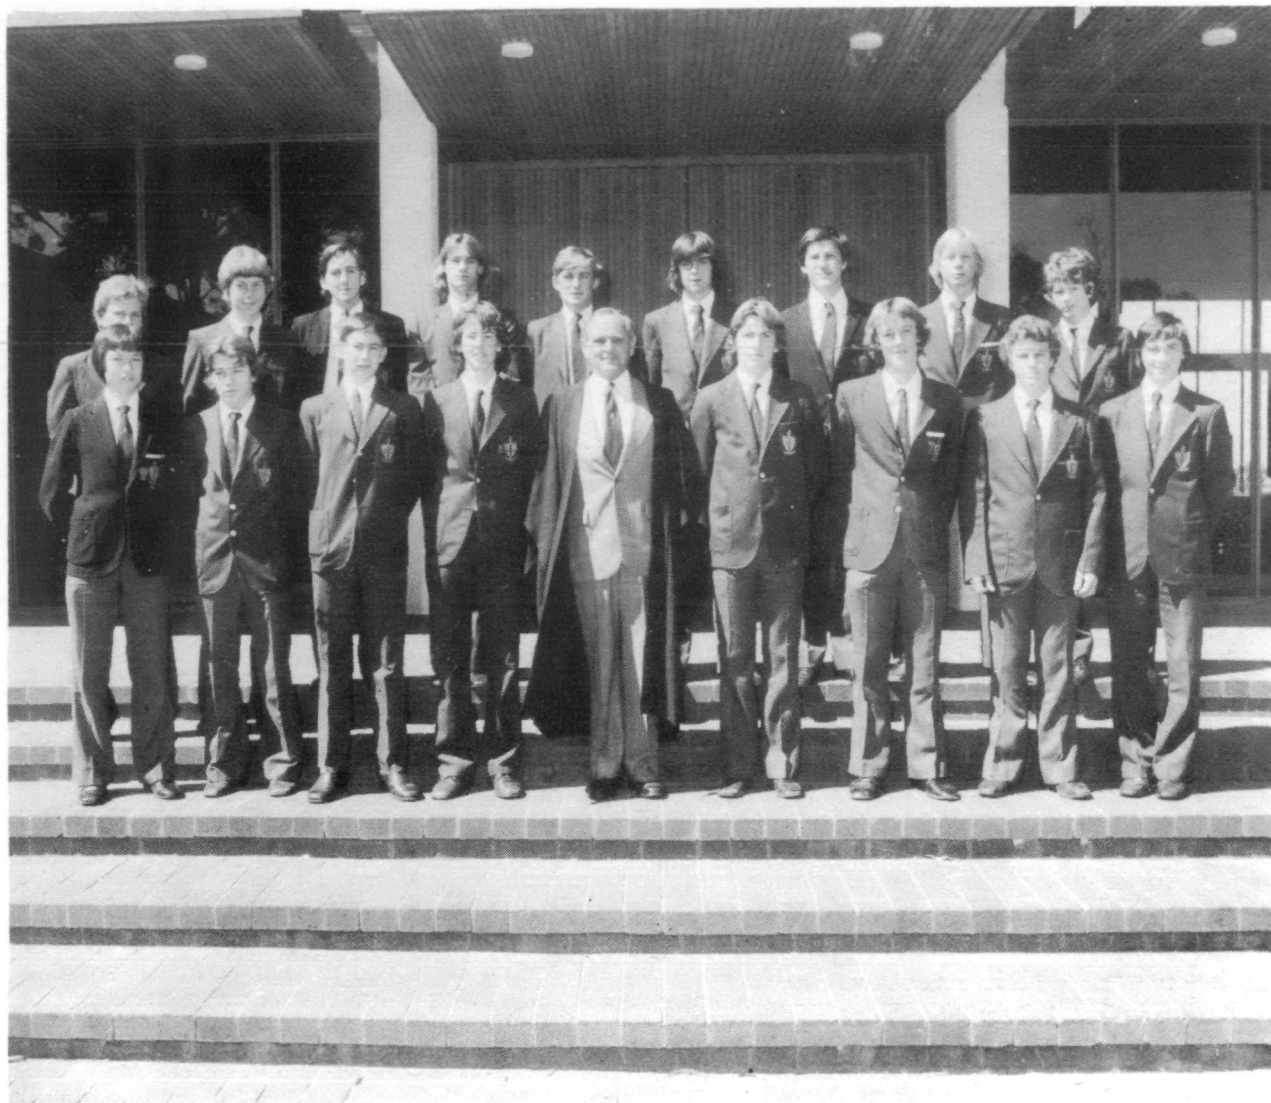

In this regard, the representatives from Years 8 to 11 were a great help, and over the year, much was achieved. In trying to improve the attitude towards students who work hard, all we could do there, as I have said, was to try to set an example. Although there was the problem of the objectives being difficult to achieve, I am glad that the goals chosen were high: it is all too easy to lower standards just to make them easy to attain.

I have heard a number of our past Captains of School talking of an apathy within the school that is supposed to have afflicted many students. I have not noticed it. Naturally, there were those individuals among us who did not care about the achievements of their peers, but these were a minority. In order to function well as a body of students, I think unity is something to be strived for, and I look in hope to next year.

With 1979 rolling on, I wish the incoming Prefects luck with the paths they choose to take.

THE SENIORS

Rear (L-R) A. F. Whitford; G. M. Forbes; I. J. Grose; S. M. Samuels; R. M. Tucker; G. D. Campbell; P. Hood; T. G. Reynolds; R. R. Gunning.
Front D. Deeley; R. D. J. Newman; S. Crafter; D. G. Lang; Mr. P. M. Moyes; A. M. Firman; J. P. Melsom; K. B. House; I. R. Doust.

The concept of School Seniors was first discussed at the Prefects Camp held at Koorngal a week before the commencement of school. It was expanded and further developed during first term and the appointment of the first Seniors was made towards the end of second term.

The main objective of introducing Seniors was to acknowledge the responsible attitude demonstrated and work done by members of Year 12, other than School Prefects, through their contributions to the school in the library, Chapel, tuckshop, pound, Social Service and other positions of responsibility. Sport or other activities where awards were already available were not taken into consideration.

Those selected as School Seniors are expected to continue their work conscientiously and provide a good example to the rest of the school by their personal conduct. As is the case with most projects in their first year, a number of organisational "teething" troubles developed. As a visual recognition of their position it was decided to award the Seniors with a specially designed tie. However, although this tie was ordered during the early part of the year, it was not received from the manufacturers till the last few weeks of school. This prevented the full potential of School Seniors being realized this year, but we look towards a more beneficial role for Seniors in the school in the next and ensuing years.

RETIREMENT

Mr. Keeley and friend discuss his retirement

Mr A. L. Keeley.

After twenty-two years of teaching at Christ Church, Mr Alan Keeley, the First Assistant in the Preparatory School, has decided to retire to his property in York where he will be part-time farmer part-time handy-man and probably something of a local identity.

Alan Keeley became a teacher having previously had other work experiences, firstly as a printer, and then in the Telephone Exchange. After serving in the R. A. A. F. during the war, he trained as a teacher and taught first with Geelong Grammar and Hamilton College in Victoria before deciding to join Christ Church in 1956.

Over the years Mr Keeley has shown an innate ability to strike a "wave-length" with boys at all levels in school. His influence in the Preparatory School has been considerable, but his effect in the school has been much wider than this. Many of the secondary students have had good reason to respect him through his involvement with the school plays. An amateur actor himself, Alan Keeley has found time to produce many of our most successful plays at the senior and junior level. To this must be added his work on the sporting field, coaching many teams, and his organisation of school camps and vacation trips for the students. On many occasions, Mr Keeley gave up his holidays to take groups of boys into the outback. His philosophy includes a real love of natural environment, and, through his own example, he has been able to influence others. He believes also that children should be challenged in their play activities, and it is this belief that led him to dream up the Adventure Playground, which he designed himself, and built with the help of some fathers.

In addition, Mr Keeley has given time to many outside bodies concerned with education. For many years he has been a member of the executive of the Independent Schools Salaried Officers' Association, and he has served on Schools' Commission committees. His special interest in the development of teachers was shown through his secretaryship of the Independent Schools' Education Committee, and in this capacity he has organised many conferences and seminars for teachers.

Mr Keeley will be missed from our school by everyone connected with it. In future, he may have more time to devote to his hobbies of woodturning, leather work, flying, ventriloquism and golf. At Christ Church, he will be remembered for the very real interest he has taken in his students.

Two Clarinet players receive instruction from Mr. Ullman.

Mr David Ullman

Mr David Ullman joined Christ Church in February 1966, coming direct from Sherborne School in England where he held the position of Assistant Director of Music. At that time the school arranged for visiting teachers to give instruction to boys wishing to learn instruments. While a number of boys took advantage of this scheme, principally in piano, there was an obvious need for a Music Department which could co-ordinate such teaching, establish orchestral and choral work and foster the already established interest in music.

In Mr Ullman, the school had secured the services of a very able and versatile musician who taught nine separate instruments — flute, oboe, trumpet, trombone, tubas, bassoon, horn and clarinet. To help intending musicians decide which instrument they could learn most effectively, a borrowing scheme was introduced which enabled a student to use an instrument provided free by the school for the first year of tuition. This was a considerable factor in the building up of a school orchestra, which, at its peak, numbered some forty players selected from almost two hundred boys who were learning instruments. In turn, it made possible the production of a number of musicals, both within the school, and in conjunction with St. Hilda's and Methodist Ladies' College. The orchestral concert became an event of some note in the school calendar.

To the boys to whom he has taught a variety of instruments, Mr Ullman will be remembered for his insistence on high standards of musicianship leavened by his own personal brand of straight-faced humour.

The school records its thanks for the contribution he has made during his thirteen years as Director of Music and wishes him a long and happy retirement.

At a brief general meeting of the school squad, late in third term last year, Andrew Smith was unanimously elected Captain of swimming for 1978 and he was to be assisted by Rohan Pixley and Dean Butler.

It was decided to leave holiday training to the individual, and some boys put in some hard concentrated work with their coaches. There were many however who did little or no work, and found the going extremely tough when 6.30 a.m. training began at the commencement of first term.

Once again Simon Martin, Michael Halliday and Mark Dawson assisted Mr. Bowker with the training of the squad, and we are very grateful to them for the time and effort they put in.

Our first informal meeting was in the form of a time-trial against Scotch College on the first Saturday of term. It was obvious at this stage, that we had a lot of hard work to do before the Inters.

A fortnight later saw our inter-house carnival, held in ideal night conditions, Craigie House emerge as the champion house. The individual championship cups were won by Rohan Pixley (open), David Huntley (U/16), Andrew King (U/15), Robert Cullingford (U/14) and Dougall Burton (U/13).

Our sincere thanks go to Mrs. J. Smith who presented the cups and medallions.

This year we were the host school for the Quadrangular Swimming Sports and this very pleasant and most successful evening resulted in a fine win for Wesley College, who at this stage looked as though they would offer some stiff opposition to Hale School at the Inters. Scotch were second, Christ Church third and Trinity fourth.

There were some excellent individual performances at this carnival and things were shaping up well for yet another exciting "Inters".

As usual the "Inters" was full of surprises and it became evident very quickly that Scotch, Wesley and Aquinas had many swimmers equal to or better than anything Hale could produce.

Our congratulations go to Tony Salom who was our only winner on the night. Tony came into the U/14 50m freestyle second division when Robert Cullingford became indisposed and swam a personal best for the distance to win in a close finish.

Though we could only manage fifth place behind Hale, Scotch, Wesley and Aquinas, it is worth mentioning that all members of the team gave personal best performances. Indeed our excitement was brought to a climax at the end of the carnival when Andrew King was clocked (on two watches) to swim his leg of the 4 x 50m freestyle relay U/15, in an unbelievable 26.5 secs. Just imagine what his time would have been if he'd been trying!!

In conclusion our thanks must go to Mr. Bowker for his organisation and dedication and to our coaches for giving their valuable time. We would encourage all those boys returning next year to work ten times harder than we did, because we've realised, all too late, that you have to hurt yourself to succeed in swimming.

1st XI Report

Results:

Term 3 1977 — played 8, won 1, drew 1, lost 6.

Term 1 1978 — played 10, won 5, drew 0, lost 5

During third term 1977 we were team building. Only one player remained from our victorious XI of term one, namely Bill Breidahl who had won his honours by taking 40 wickets in Darlot Cup matches for 400 runs.

Roly Smith was elected captain early in the season to give him as much experience of leadership as possible and he proved just the man for the job. Only he and Tim Stephenson among Year 12 boys made the final XI.

In first term 1978, after losing the first two cup matches, we were well at the bottom of the table, but after beating Scotch and then Guildford outright we were fourth. Our greatest success came in the next match when we defeated the favourites — Wesley — outright by an innings. This was our high-water mark and with a clear lead of 3.75 points, all we needed to clinch matters was a first innings win over Aquinas, who were at the bottom of the table. But this was a topsy turvy year and the very slow but determined 137 which our opponents reached proved 5 runs too much for us.

Our final position was 3rd with 38.06 points to Scotch's 38.39 and Wesley's 38.18. It is of interest to note that the only school we beat in both terms was Scotch, the final winners, and that we also beat Wesley, who were second, but were beaten by the two bottom teams, Trinity and Aquinas.

Perhaps our greatest claim to fame were the victories we had in first term over both Incogniti and the Taverners, sides we had never defeated before and who almost never get beaten by any school side.

The scores were 75 to 64 versus Incogniti, R. Lewis 3 for 16, C. Lewis 3 for 18, Breidahl 3 for 8 in 10 overs and, 79 to 66 versus Taverners, Breidahl 5 for 14. In both games our fielding was superb.

Undoubtedly Bill Breidahl's contribution to the side's success was great and when the batting really worked as against Guildford and Wesley, it led to outright wins. However, it was the batting that was brittle and it is greatly to Roly Smith's credit that he batted 12½ hours in his 8 Darlot Cup innings, and, on the two occasions of our outrights, made these possible by monumental innings.

Cameron Lewis played 3 exciting Darlot innings including 77 against Wesley, and Willie Atkins got an important fifty very quickly against Guildford. Glass, Stephenson and Cameron batted very well on occasions and Paris, Milligan, Seward and Thurling showed promise.

However, it was in the field that we shone and Bill's bowling successes inspired accuracy from the other end, especially from Eric Glass, while C. Lewis bowled very well on occasions. Both catching and ground fielding were of high order, for which Peter Tooke, in third term, and John Atkinson in first term must take much credit. Paul White proved a really promising young keeper.

The XI owed a great deal to Ray Strauss who regularly came to our practices and gave invaluable advice, and to the mothers led by Julie Smith and Rae Breidahl who far outshone in every way those of our rivals in providing sustenance and solace.

Finally mention of our remarkable scorer, D. K. McKenzie, must be made. Altogether a great bunch of cricketers who were a privilege and pleasure to coach.

The 1st VIII this year was a relatively young team, with our first two members being Year 11's and our numbers 5 and 6 being Year 9's.

Lack of pre-season practice was apparent and showed up in our first few matches, though we improved quickly throughout the season.

Andrew Watts, our number 1 player, played very well all year and managed to win all of his singles matches, a feat which gained him honours. Our number two player, Mark Alderson was probably the most determined of all our players and won many hard fought matches. Andrew, together with Mark, formed a formidable doubles pair who played well together to win most of their doubles matches.

Our captain this year was Geoff Melsom who contributed not only by winning matches but also by giving moral support when the team was down. The two youngest members of the first VIII were Tim Watts, younger brother of Andrew, and Mark Edgley. These two contributed to the team greatly and at the same time have gained experience for next season's competition.

Our team this year encountered only a few problems, the main one being lack of concentration and determination during practice. I think we can overcome this next year if the team treats practice as the serious part of coaching it is, and, not treat it as an ordinary afternoon game. The team could also benefit a great deal if players are prepared to go out and play pennants and also play in tournaments. These are necessities for any player who wishes to play for the 1st VIII team next year.

Overall then, the tennis season this year was successful. Our thanks must go to the two coaches of the team, Mr. Rickey and Professor Watts whose help was greatly appreciated.

When one examines the Head of the River results for 1978, it would seem that the boatshed had an unsuccessful year. However, this was not the case. A look behind the statistics will show that in many respects 1978 was a year of great improvement in many areas.

The motive of any school rowing club is to win as many races as possible, especially "The Head", obviously we did not do this, but success did come to the boatshed in other forms. Three major changes were particularly gratifying to see this year.

This year saw the return of the summer holidays' rowing camp. This camp, a week in duration at Margaret River, was a huge success. It moulded the cross-section of boys who went down, into the basis for a fine boatshed. Much credit and my personal thanks goes to all those who helped organise the camp. I hope this concept can be continued in future years.

Secondly, and again in the final weeks of the summer holidays, was the massive amount of reconditioning work done in the boatshed. Mr. Mountier and Mr. Hammond gave up hours of free time to begin a reconditioning project which is still continuing. This work proved invaluable and I thank Mr. Mountier, Mr. Hammond, and the small band of boys who assisted them.

Thirdly, and this was the most satisfying to me, was the emergence of a new found boatshed spirit. Morale and enthusiasm overflowed in the boatshed this season. To the credit of all the boys in the shed, a tremendous spirit and sense of enthusiastic energy predominated for the whole season. So in terms of spirit and effort, one saw the return of the Christ Church Boat Club of old. If this attitude can be maintained next year, combined with our strengthening resources, I'm sure Christ Church will again become the top rowing school.

Another feature of the shed this year was the functioning of the Rowers' Committee. To Lindsay McRae (Vice-Capt.), Geoff Reemeijer, Ashley McDonald and Julian Harding, the guys in the shed owe a great deal, they worked hard to organize and to maintain spirit, and I thank them for their efforts.

On behalf of all the boys in the shed in 1978 I extend thanks to the coaches. With 2nd VIII Les Wilson, U/16 VIII Rob Dukes, Jamie Burkett and Kim Richardson and the fours coach Brian Greatrex. I'm sure that these coaches will be the drive behind Christ Church's success next year. Perhaps the man I'm personally indebted to the most is Murray McHenry. As 1st VIII coach and chief boatshed organiser this year he was a tower of strength to all.

Finally, a word concerning next season. I urge all the boys in the shed to get behind your coaches and committee. If the spirit we had this year can be maintained, 1979 will be a great year for our shed. We must look to the future with optimism and a positive attitude in our rowing.

So good luck to all in the shed next year, I'm sure it will be a winning one.

After the success of last year's 1st XVIII it was disappointing to see us not hold on to the cup. Although the players were just as dedicated, they lacked the experience which that team had. However, as the 1976 side was in the same boat and they had a success in 1977, it promises well for Christ Church football in 1979.

On the football field in 1978 Christ Church was very unlucky not to win more games, and it was very disheartening to see our side dissolve in the dying minutes of the game. The classic example of this was the game against Aquinas where we went down by 20 points after keeping with them all day.

The competition this year was a lot more even with all teams having a good chance and the team was having it's morale lowered by the constant close finishes.

The major problem for the side this year was the inconsistency shown in the forward line and it was a difficult area for coach Mr. London to deal with. Although the potential was there and the ball was in the forward line, more often than not the result was a behind and this lack of goal scoring cost us several games.

Strength this year was shown in the back line and exemplified by players such as Jim Adamson at full back whose solid defensive play and strong marking was a highlight of most games. Others in the back line who played well on most occasions were Pat Seward, Tim Stephenson and Peter Annear.

Cameron Lewis showed the style of play which is sure to be evident in force next year. His aggressive, flow-on football which was a great driving force for the team, and congratulations to him on gaining honours for the second year in a row.

Mr. London must have been a frustrated man, and yet the players would like to thank him for his encouragement and style of coaching which sharpened up many player's abilities and taught us all how to play good football.

We are all just sorry that we couldn't do a better job for him.

Mention must also go to Greg Campbell as Captain and Nigel Forrester as his able deputy who instilled some of the necessary steadiness and courage of play and who were, overall, a strong influence on the younger players in the side.

So, 1978 saw a good effort from a young and talented side that is sure to do well next season and we wish them every success in '79.

In contrast to teams of previous years, this year's 1st XI had only four players returning from last year's side, which attained second position in the P. S. A competition. This was a contributing factor in our only finishing fifth behind Wesley, Trinity, Aquinas and Hale. Perhaps we were a little unlucky not to have finished higher, but poor performances against Hale (0-3) and Scotch (0-0) in the first round cost us fourth position. However, on a number of occasions the side produced a standard of play that equalled and sometimes exceeded that of last year's team. Such a performance was in our first game against Trinity, although we lost 1-nil, we were not discouraged as we played with a surprising degree of control and understanding. The highlight of the game was the maturity displayed by the seven newcomers in their first XI debut. The same standard was again produced in later matches against Hotspurs, Hale and Wesley (both in the second round).

Another major problem was that three out of four old members were defenders and this left a large number of vacancies in the forward line. This degree of inexperience resulted in the inability to score goals, although in the second half of the season Paul White, with his stickwork, and Mike Whitford, with his pace and constructive leading, provided efficient avenues of attack.

This lack of firepower in attack was compensated to a certain degree by the dogged and determined style of play of the defence who, on many occasions, kept the opposition scoreless in the first half, but fell away in the second half conceding two and three goals. These second half collapses were no fault of Pete Smith, who, for three years as goalkeeper, has been the driving force of the whole team. His efforts, on many occasions provided the inspiration necessary to lift the team's performance. This year was his final season in the first XI and his departure will leave a large gap in the defence. Pete was undoubtedly one of the finest goalkeepers in the P. S. A., and his efforts were justly rewarded when he was selected in the combined P. S. A side that played Hotspurs.

Another player who was an inspiration to the side was Vice-Captain Al Putt, who, with his "brick-wall" tactics frustrated many sides who found their right wings no longer an avenue of attack.

The final member of last season's quartette was Andy Metcalfe, who can be effectively described as the team's utility player — playing in no less than five different positions throughout the season.

The two fullbacks, Mark Alderson and Ching Howe Chan, proved to be a formidable combination, thwarting numerous attacks from several highly skilled forward lines.

Tim Reynolds, another utility player, turned out to be a highly efficient short corner striker, scoring some game-saving and match winning goals. None more memorable than that against Hale, drawing the match.

Inside forwards Chris Tulk and Peter Richmond must both be congratulated on their tenacious performances from week to week. Both stuck to their tasks admirably and were always back in defence when their help was required.

Finally Peter Morris, Daryl Deeley and David MacKenzie must be thanked for their enthusiastic support in the games that they played.

Our thanks must undoubtedly go to Mr. House who had the difficult tasks of coaching the side which was trying to gain the experience necessary to play effectively in firsts and, in the meantime, win matches. I hope his tireless efforts will be rewarded next season.

1978 saw Christ Church Rugby in full force, fielding five teams in all and creating some exciting moments.

At the beginning of the season, the First XV set out with high spirits and a confidence not witnessed for many years. A Rugby Camp was organised at Koorinal with all potential First XV players and coaches attending. This proved to be most beneficial in boosting morale and team spirit, (one of our chief attributes this season). As well as discussing tactics, rules and interpretation of the game, we strenuously ran through the surrounding bush and became much fitter. I hope the camp becomes an annual event.

The First XV achieved mixed results, winning four games and losing six. This was partly due to the lack of weight and experience — ten of the First squad were members of Year 11 and 10. The first round results were as follows: lost to Trinity, a much heavier team; won against Wesley, relying heavily on the kicking of Michael Pate and Rohan Pixley; won against Hale, with an outstanding try by "Spike" Milligan; lost to Scotch, the best drilled and aggressive team in the P. S. A.; lost to Guildford in the most appalling muddy conditions; and lost to Aquinas, in a close, hard-fought game. In the second round the results were more or less the same.

Exciting players included "Big" Scott Rigney, who scored one try and converted three; "Fearless" Peter King, tackling anything and everything; Rohan Pixley, who saved many situations with his powerful boot, and Geoff "Quentin" Reemeijer who scored an amazing try at Wesley. "Spike" Milligan was consistently the most intelligent player, being fast and evasive, and scoring four tries. An important feature of the First XV was the undaunted spirit and determination exhibited by all members. We finished equal fourth at the conclusion of the season.

The Second XV was the most successful of our teams, winning five games, losing three and drawing two. Captained by Andrew Barkway-Jones they played with courage and enterprise, and frequently surprised the opposition with their fierce tackling and quick counter-attacks. The main scorers were Tim Flaherty, that fast Irishman, who scored three tries, the impenetrable Morgan, Strapp and Milne who scored two tries a piece, and "Womble" Morton who not only converted three tries, but gave the opposition plenty of curry. Keay and Coulson scored one try each.

The Third XV also made progress this season, even though they did not win many games James Barkway-Jones was the main scorer, converting six tries and scoring two. He was keenly backed up by Hill, Yeo, Gelley, Andrew and Buchanan who all scored a try each.

The Middle School fielded two teams; an "A" and a "B" XV. Matches were keenly contested throughout the season, and we witnessed some excellent play and manoeuvres. The "A" team was the more successful, winning one game and losing several others by only a single score. Julian Johnson, the most accurate place kicker in the school, played consistently well, with Andrew King and Rory Butcher also excelling. The "B" team was not so successful, but showed spirit and never gave up. The best players were Fraser, Sclaro and Reid, with some spectacular tackling by Tullet.

Congratulations must be extended to Michael Pate, Scott Rigney, Andrew Keay and William Atkins who all played in the U/16 State team in Canberra during August, and to Shane Milligan who played in the State School-boys team at the National Carnival in Adelaide at the same time.

In conclusion on behalf of all the players I would like to thank sincerely, the coaches of the five teams who remained enthusiastic and helpful throughout the season especially Mr Woollet, the First XV Coach and his assistant, Captain Corse, who we understand may be leaving us to take up a coaching position with the Wanneroo Club. We thank him for his valuable support and interest over the past two seasons.

1979 is the year for the P. S. A. to be wary of Christ Church Rugby, for with the team spirit and aggressive talent evident this season, they will be hard to defeat.

"Best in the Long Run"

1978 was Cross-Country's first year as an official P. S. A. sport, and in that inaugural season both the Middle and Senior School teams excelled. The Middle School competition finished with Christ Church in second place to Wesley. The seniors narrowly defeated Aquinas to finish the season on top of the "ladder".

The younger team had four runners who consistently ran well; namely, Nigel Draynton, Dennis Smart, Mark Young and Tim Neale. I think that the strength of the senior team came from the fact that we leant on no "figurehead" runner, but rather had a core of eight or so dedicated runners of much the same ability.

The big event came mid-season, in the form of the P. S. A. championships at Perry Lakes. In a field of about a hundred starters we saw Aquinas as our only real competition. Our suspicions were well founded, as they beat us by a tiny margin. It was bad luck that the draw of fixtures prevented the two top teams racing each other more than once.

Perry Lakes was also the venue for the State Schoolboys' Championships, in which we had teams in all age groups. All teams performed creditably, in particular the two teams that managed to clinch first placings (both in relays and individual events): 13 year olds— John Carrington-Jones, Nigel Draynton, Tim Neale and Steve Oxley; Open— Geoff Dean, Tim Flaherty, Mike Smart, Andrew Sullivan and Robert Crossing.

Much of the credit for the school's widespread successes on the cross-country track during the year, we believe, must surely go to Mr. Marsland for his superb coaching and constant encouragement. With several successful seasons behind us now, Mr. Marsland is fast building the school a fine reputation as regards cross-country running. Speaking for 1978 team members, I wish him and future teams continued success in a competition that will rapidly become more competitive, after this, its fledgeling season.

'THE OTHER SIDE OF THE OVAL'

Gymnastics is a sport of control. Not control of external bodies (such as balls or weights), but control of one's own body, and one's own mind! There are many fears to be overcome, a sense of direction must be maintained, a total feeling for dynamics is imperative, and 100% concentration is essential. Should a loss of this vital consciousness occur (for only a split second), the gymnast experiences what we term a 'spectacular dismount'. Many students who try gymnastics do not persevere to master these difficult foundation skills, others persevere but cannot withstand the spectacular dismounts. However, for those who fight off their fears, there is the unequalled thrill of swinging around the high bar, the world of gymnastics!

This year's home competition (held in August), was pleasing not only in quality, but it was good to see the numbers who have carried on from last year.

The Prep School Cup had many strong competitors, and was well won by Peter McSkimming.

In the Walkers Cup section (U/15), Nigel Gribble put in a good effort coming 1st, Andrew King 2nd, Cameron Robinson 3rd, Shaun Adams 4th and David Smith 5th.

A gruelling competition took place for the cherished Maclagan Cup (open competition) with Scott Isbel winning it for the second year in succession, Kurt Zink 2nd and Mathew Sadka 3rd. Two Year 11 gymnasts (C. Panting and W. Wilson) also braved the Maclagan Cup competition.

Old-Boy wise, the big news was Lindsay Nylund's second placing in the Commonwealth Games (despite nagging injuries). Michael Herman and Kevin Redmond are both in the U. S. A., hopefully improving their gymnastics. Francis Gavet "Pierre" will be covering the world championships (in France) for The Australian Gymnast magazine.

Thanks go to the many staff and students who have assisted us at competitions. Special thanks must go to senior boys Joe Schwaiger and John Weatherhead, who gave up free afternoons in second term to help Mr. Kovacs with the immense job of coaching the large number of new younger gymnasts.

As the standard of gymnastics throughout the world continues to increase, so Mr. Kovacs demands more of the junior gymnasts. There remain those who lack the motivation to put a whole-hearted effort into their lives, but there has been a good number this year who have had the dedication to do regular additional training before school, and at lunch time. If this dedication by these individuals can be maintained into next year, I am certain of our continued success in 1979.

ATHLETICS REPORT

On the whole this year's athletics was extremely successful in that the team brought off a creditable fourth at this year's P. S. A. Athletic Meeting.

After a not so successful encounter with Guildford, Scotch and Wesley at the Quadrangular Athletic Meeting earlier on in the season, we realized that hard training was simply not enough. Team spirit was lagging and school support was almost non-existent, so, after enlisting the help of a few prominent Year 12's, such as Steve Annear, Andrew Smith, Rob Crossing (Vice-Capt.) and Kurt Zink (committee man), we set about putting a little fire into the school as a whole.

The result was incredible with nigh on 200 boys turning out to support the team. This support brought about a miraculous change in the team, all of whom pushed themselves to the limit at the Inters.

Although the whole team deserves equal recognition some extremely noteworthy performances were those of Mal Thomson who won 2 of 7 events he competed in. Other winners at the Inters were: Tom Moyes (U/15 800 div. 2), Michael Smart (3000 div. 2), Cam Lewis (U/17 T. J. div. 2) and Hamish Carnachan (U/16 1500 div. 2). Proof of the high standard was shown when Tim Stevenson bettered the school open high jump record by 8cm without winning his event (he came second).

Tim Flaherty, Michael Whitford, Andrew King and myself will be competing in this year's State Schoolboys Championships.

Beside the boost we got from our supporters, who I would like to thank on behalf of the team, none of this could have come about if not for the relentlessness of our coaches.

Mr. Van Kempen, Mr. London, Mr. Davis, Mr. Merrells, Mr. Pate, Mr. Kovacs, Mr. Jennings and the outside coaches Mr. Rossiter, Mr. Le Rossignol and Mr. Gilmour all deserve the highest praise for their diligence in coaching the team to its peak. Special mention goes to Mr. Gilmour's hurdlers who were never out of a place. Mr. Bowker must also be thanked for the application of his organizational skill in getting us all where we had to be for both training and competing.

Finally, special thanks goes to the superhuman efforts of Mr. Marsland who spent many hours training the long and middle distance runners to his usual high standard, and then many more deciding on who was best suited to which event and how the team would benefit most. Had it not been for his organisation of the team structure we surely would not have done as well as we did.

All in all I think that everyone came out of this year's athletic season with a sense of achievement and satisfaction which is what athletics is all about.

BASKETBALL REPORT

Rear (L-R) S. M. Samuels; G. C. Myatt; M. B. Morrissy; P. R. Annear; P. J. Morris.
Front N. B. Forrester; Mr. D. J. Morrissy (Coach); G. D. Campbell.

Basketball was run on a trial basis as a P. S. A. sport this year and, in my opinion, was very successful.

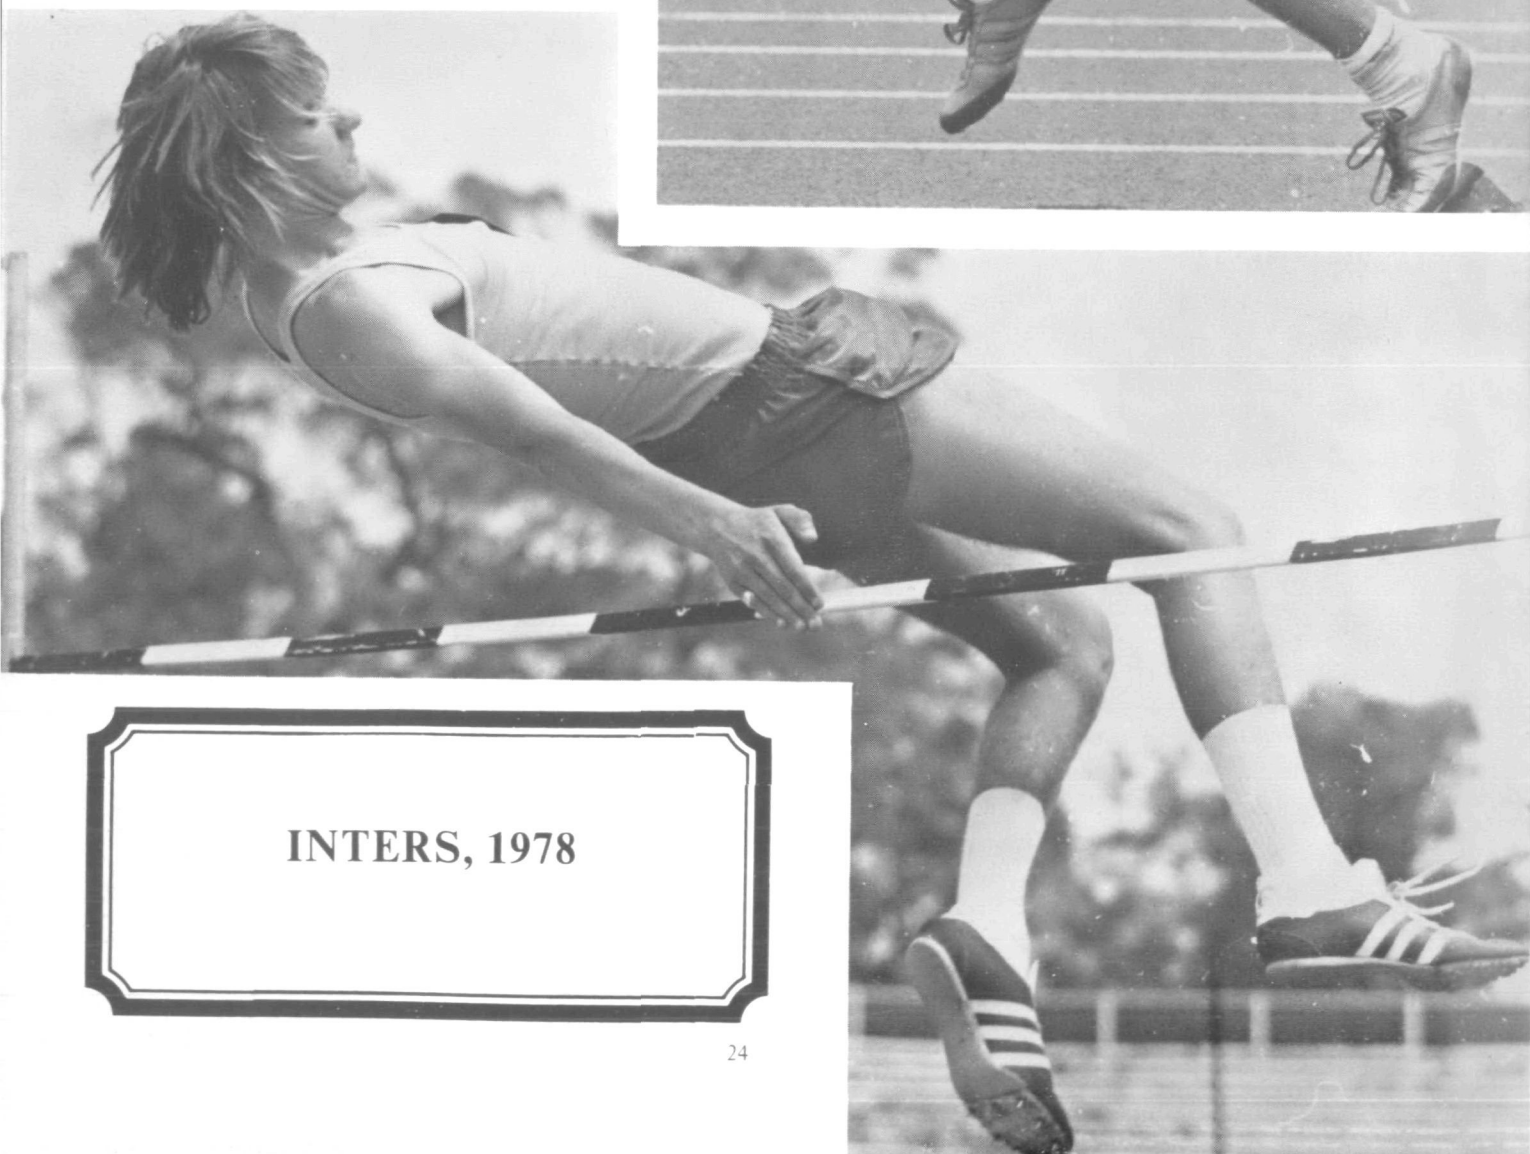

The season was one of improvement. Most of our five losses (out of six games), were very close, well fought matches. It was the culmination of the season in a win over Wesley that made the training well worthwhile.

Thanks goes to Mr. Morrissy for persisting with an initially unskilled team. Most improved player must go to Peter Morris who became a mainstay in the latter part of the season. Consistent good performances were put in by Greg Campbell, Glen Myatt (Vice-Captain), Peter Annear, and last (but by no means least), Scott Samuels who was the team committee man. We could also rely on Mark Morrissy and Ross Larrard, up-and-coming young stars, to fill in when necessary.

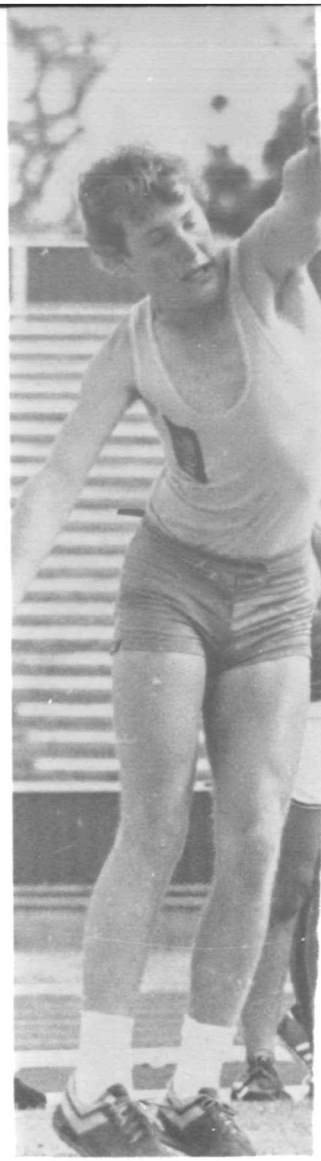

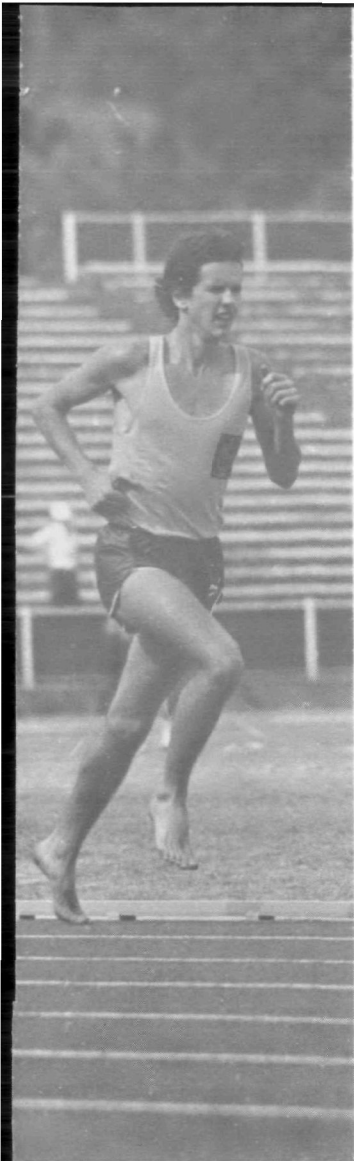

If basketball was on trial this year, then I believe it came out with flying colours in that it achieved everything a sport should in the areas of sportsmanship, enjoyment and excitement. This was reflected in the terrific team spirit we had this season.

We hope for the sake of others that it continues for many years to come.

CHESS 1978

Standing (L-R) D. G. Lang; G. C. Myatt; T. C. Reynolds.
Seated D. Deeley; T. R. Stephenson; I. R. Doust.

The year began with the election of club officials to aid our untiring (?) chessmaster, Mr. Hopkins. Chess Captain David Lang received willingly (?) the job of president and he was ably (?) aided by our secretary/treasurer Daryl Deeley.

The first event on the chess agenda was the inter-house chess. This competition was to find the most intellectual (?) house in both the Senior and the Middle School, and enable the Chess Club to discover those boys with some potential so that we could invite them to play for the school in the interschool competition. After some fiery encounters over the chess boards Jupp won the Senior School competition closely followed by Wolsey. In the Middle School Wolsey showed its depth of talent with a comfortable win. Overall Wolsey came first followed by Jupp and Noake.

The Chess Club's major successes this year came during the May and August vacations. During the May holidays, ten of us gave up a week of our free time to go and defend the Sheard Trophy for yet another year. This we did successfully, helped along by some outstanding personal efforts, especially in the younger age groups where Steven Cooper and Andrew Alsop in the under 14 and Tim Reynolds and Michael Codd in the under 16 section all did well, with Cooper taking out a prize. In the open section we made our presence felt mainly through our numbers, although there were a few good matches turned on by our competitors. David Land and Ian Doust both finished in the first ten.

The Garden City tournament was held during the August vacation and we were again successful. The Year 8's showed their class with Alsop and Richard Scolaro winning age group prizes. Charlie Collin also won a prize and the school as a whole walked away with the new Garden City trophy, with a points score nearly double that of the second placed school.

During second term we competed in the interschool competition with varied success. A lack of organisation resulted in us not having teams on some occasions and consequently we lost on forfeit. Our A team, which consisted of David Lang, Daryl Deeley, Tim Stevenson, Ian Doust and Glenn Myatt, started off well but faded towards the end of the season.

The B team (Tim Reynolds, Michael Codd, Charlie Collins and William Skinner) met with only moderate success while the J1's (Andrew Alsop, Richard Scolars, Steven Lawrence and Vincent Gouge) battled quite favourably against much older opponents and showed that Christ Church will remain a strong force in the future. The C team competed when we could find enough competitors with "star" players such as Simon Sedgley, Michael Brett and Stephen Burston.

Open Day saw the reintroduction of the Open Day Lightning Tournament. After some tense confrontations the final winner was Stephen Cooper from David Lang and Daryl Deeley who finished equal on points.

A fair amount of talent will remain next year and if they can harness the enthusiasm shown in the lunch time games in the library, it could prove even more successful than this year.

DEBATING

D. B. Lang; S. J. Annear; Rev. W. J. Ogle; A. E. H. Putt; A. B. McGowan.

The most significant change this year was the departure of the Reverend A. G. Dutton from the school and thus from the debating club.

The senior team this year, Andrew McGowan, Al Putt and myself were all taught the art of debating by Mr. Dutton. On behalf of all the debaters of the school, our thanks go to him for all his efforts and tutoring.

The debating club was not to lose anything however, as the Reverend W. J. Ogle replaced Mr. Dutton and the club stayed in competent hands. I extend my personal thanks on behalf of all the debaters, to Fr. Ogle for guiding us through the remainder of the season.

The senior team, having debated together for the two previous years and winning their year A division last year, looked set to make big waves. But an unfortunate loss to a struggling Scotch and, an astonishing loss to M. L. C. saw us knocked out of the competition. This disappointing third in our division was compensated by Andrew McGowan being selected in the State Debating Team. Congratulations to Andrew for his fine efforts on the winning W. A. State Team.

This year saw some very stiff competition in the senior divisions and we were perhaps unlucky not to do better. However, we had an enjoyable year doing what we enjoy doing — debating.

"IT'S ACADEMIC"

M. D. Wells; A. R. Bartley; Mr. R. T. Woollett; S. R. Pate; D. C. Ellison.

Christ Church entered the "It's Academic" competition for the third time running this year, and again had considerable success. We got off to a good start at the beginning of the year, with some twenty boys volunteering for the trials. Eventually we chose a team which consisted of Andrew Bartley, David Ellison and myself, backed up by six reserves. A long period of training began until finally the date of our first game arrived on 23rd April.

We gained a lead from the start, and were luckily able to keep it for the rest of the game, finishing up just in front of Yanchep Community School and Scarborough High School, with 340 points.

More training followed this win, with the team getting special experience from a visit to Methodist Ladies College. The match took place in front of about 100 girls — all giggling uncontrollably the whole time.

The day of our second round finally dawned, and we prepared ourselves for our encounter with Aquinas College and Kewdale High School knowing it would be a difficult match. We were proved right when we discovered ourselves at the end of the first three rounds with only 250 points, compared with a seemingly unbeatable 455 from Aquinas. However, there are twenty points for a correct answer in the beat-the-buzzer round, and we knew that if we answered about 11 questions correctly, we would be at least back in the competition. Luckily, the questions were fairly easy, and we did manage to push our score up to 450, just below Aquinas with 475. Although we hadn't won, this high score did get us into the Series Final a few weeks later as the losing team with the highest score.

In the Final, we got off to a good start, being ahead of Santa Maria and just behind Aquinas at the end of the first two rounds. However, we didn't do as well in the next round, and Santa Maria gained a perfect score of 200 points. Aquinas' score remained the same and Santa Maria went ahead to win with a good score of 470.

Although we lost, we did receive $150 worth of sporting goods for the School and each member of the team was presented with a watch and a calculator.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank Stephen Pate and the other reserves who spent just as much time in training as us, but never appeared on T. V. or received any prizes. The two former "It's Academic" teams also helped and provided some stiff competition at our public rehearsals in the Chapel.

We also appreciated the interest and support of our coach Mr. Woollett.

ARCHIVES

The Archivists: A. B. McGowan and D. G. Lang.

The "exciting" Archives, as it came to be known after Open Day, had another successful year. The team was Andrew McGowan, David Long (both Year 12) and David McKenzie (Year 11). At the year's beginning, the department's premises were a little cramped, priceless historical material was all kept in one filing cabinet in the library but the school saw the importance of their student researchers' work and a nice large steel cabinet was granted mid-way during the year.

These budding historians prepared two complete projects for display during the year, Mr. Noake, Headmaster 1916-1921 by David Land, and Cricket at Christ Church by David McKenzie. Another display, which is incomplete, is on Mr. Walters.

Open Day is the one day of the year when the students and teachers can see the Archives' objects laid out in their full glory, and this year they were not disappointed. A record crowd was attracted to the council room, drawing attendances away from the Royal Show. There were old articles of school uniform, as well as photographs and oddments never seen before. The most popular exhibit was the really captivating recording of the 1959 Head of the River blaring out on a portable record player — We won.

In the Chronicle there was a plea for old students of the school to send in items, i.e. old reports, clothing, mitres or information that could be historically relevant, but only one letter was received. A rather disappointing effort from the Old Boys.

The Archives is now in mothballs waiting for a new, and perhaps even more successful team than this year's, to take over and continue the invaluable work of preserving the past.

Centre D. G. F. Crowe; M. H. Pearce; M. R. Smart.
Front Rev. E. P. Witham; J. R. J. Barton; Rev. W. J. Ogle.

The 1978 Chapel Committee's enthusiasm was only slightly frustrated by the changes of Chaplain this year.

The Rev'd A. Dutton left at the end of first term. His wide range of contributions to the school was much appreciated. He was teacher and chaplain and a real friend to many of the boys.

Second term brought Fr. Ogle whose efforts to hold the interest of 150 sleepy boarders on Sunday mornings made Chapel more than just bearable, but actually enjoyable.

Fr. Ogle's interest in the boarders especially was greatly appreciated, and the 5th Years in McCle-mans House who enjoyed dinner with him appreciated his cooking and hospitality.

Third term sees Fr. Witham as Christ Church's new Chaplain with Fr. Ogle as his able assistant. It is also the transient time of the passing of the old and the coming of the new Chapel Committee.

No longer will the chapel rock to Bruce Strapp's choice of "Kiss: Double Platinum." Never again will the pews echo to Geoff Reemeijer defending Joni Mitchell's talent.

The sound system will evermore be deprived of Darius Crowe's loving attention, and Michael Smart will have to live without his weekly ego boost of sitting in the headmaster's chair. Fast moving Murray Pearce will have to contain his organisational skills.

The sound equipment will have to do without John Barton's company each service, even when it is not in use. And last, the chapel will miss the quietness of Geoffrey Forbes, the only sane member of the committee.

1978 has therefore been a time of change—sometimes disturbing, but full of promise for the future.

TUCKSHOP

In reflection, 1978 was a very successful year for the tuckshop. Not only did the committee raise upwards of $8000 profit but many outstanding events occurred in the tuckshop vicinity. Some of the more spectacular being a record fifty senior boys squeezing into the "tucky" back room and the frequent lunch time tuckshop concerts (incorporating a corroboree and other eccentric musical phenomena). A notable result of these concerts has been that "Nigel and the Jelly Babies" have signed a lucrative contract with RCA.

On a more serious note, I extend my personal thanks to all those chaps on the tuckshop this year. The size of our mammoth profit is a credit to the honesty and dedication of the 1978 committee. Special thanks goes to Mr. Fraser for his support and Jim Barrett-Lennard for his tireless work. Finally, I wish the incoming committee good luck and good business.

Steven ("Are you being served?") Annear.

THE MATHS AND GAMES CLUB

The M. and G. Club originated through a combination of two clubs at the end of first term. The Club has met with a favourable response from Years 8 and 9 with a maximum turnout of about 45 to 50 people. The Club elected the following people in an appropriate gamesmanlike manner (we rolled a dice!)

Andrew Parry, President
Niels Stienstra, Vice-President
David Webb, Treasurer
Timothy Hughes, Secretary.

Meetings have been both Tuesdays (at C. C. G. S.) and Thursdays (at M. L. C.) and the range of activities has been extremely wide.

Activities have included playing and analysing the winning strategies of a number of mathematical and recreational games, participation in fantasy war games, constructing models and helping (a little!) in the construction of a full scale geodesic dome at M. L. C.

The peak must have been a trip to Secondary Teachers College computer organised by student teacher Ms. Day. The Club was able to play on 8 terminals, eight games of "Star Wars" simultaneously!

Committee: S. Crafter, P. Kernot, R. R. Gunning, R. P. Smith, K. W. Zink, P. C. Hobbs, A. C. Sullivan, E. Sinclair, R. Smyth.

All aims of the committee were achieved throughout the last year. The most successful aim was that of involving a large proportion of the school in our activities. The support of the boys and staff has been commendable. With this support we were able to organise a varied range of fund raising activities.

Activities undertaken were the annual quiz night held in 2nd term, yielding $125 to the Cancer Appeal. Another activity held in second term was the inaugural "Mr. Christ Church" competition, with Mr. Christ Church 78 being Andy Smith. Also held during this term was a series of concerts many thanks to the artists who spared their time to play, namely, Alison Halliday, Hankey's Hound Dogs and the Triffids.

Christ Church also staged a 40 hour famine in which all funds raised went to World Vision Australia for development projects in third world countries. Although the numbers were low the enthusiasm was not, and most survived the 40 hours.

This year's committee also helped in the Red Cross Appeal, the Salvation Army Red Shield Appeal and various Friday after-school street collections.

Our visits to Wanslea were maintained but one could question their regularity. The year ten and eleven students continued to support the special education centre, by recording stories onto tapes to aid a child's comprehension of a book.

The major beneficiary of money raised this year was the Cancer Council of Western Australia. The $1,259.36 raised will go towards the purchase of a Gamma camera for the early detection of cancer in children. Money raised during third term will go to the Speech and Hearing Centre for Children.

1978 has been an extremely successful year with a very enthusiastic committee and I am indebted to them for their help and support throughout the year. The committee is grateful to Mr Williams for the time and effort he has given in supporting us. His help was never ending and we contribute a great amount of our success to his support.

I wish all the best to the incoming president and committee and hope they will accept the challenge and make 1979 a year of still greater achievements.

Andrew Whitford.

P. S. Andrew Whitford showed himself to be the most active and successful Social Service president with whom I have been associated. It was a great pleasure to work with him and his committee.

Dear Readers,

I have been given the impossible task of telling "in no more than one hundred and twenty words of inspired prose", the story of the schools' unsung heroes — the Pound People.

Who else other than heroes would willingly surround themselves with assorted articles of apparel such as salvaged socks, jettisoned jumpers, unwanted unmentionables and other personal possessions pto pnumerous pto pmention?

All this and William ("Name your price") Skinner, Jim ("Hey that's mine") Stephenson, Simon ("Sorry we don't give change") Williams, Frank ("This is a business we are running not a charity") Tate, and your very own correspondent, all, I say, accommodated in a cluster of odd little cubicles which apart from the absence of plumbing might well have once housed, as rumour has it, ablution facilities for Masters. I flush to think of it! In fact when I do come to think of it there is a certain lingering bouquet noticeable on a summer's day.

The point is that in spite of the working conditions, in spite of the work, the Pound People persevere in their efforts to bring together that and those which and who have been put assunder in a new spirit of reconciliation that is touching to see and all the reward we need.

To the incoming Pound People we give this note of good cheer for 1979. Rumour (again) has it that you may be moving from the Black Hole to a variable Taj Mahal. Hope springs eternal . . .

As well as continuing its fine tradition as home of the bookworm, and the conscientious student, the ever expanding Selwyn Prior Library has tended also this year toward becoming a lunch time refuge from summer heat and winter rains. Needless to say, the atmosphere within its walls has varied greatly in consequence both throughout the year and from one hour to the next during the day.

This is one of several problems which have presented themselves, clearly, for another year and which although common to most libraries remain still partly unsolved in this one. But not for want of trying. It was one of the aims of the Prefect's Committee to improve the academic atmosphere throughout the school. It was felt this could in part be achieved by encouraging even more boys to make use of the facilities in the library, and by maintaining the working atmosphere of past years. We have all worked hard towards this goal.

A system was introduced this year in an attempt to counteract the tendency of boys to place books anywhere in the bookshelves. This situation most often arises after a class period when a particular subject section has been descended upon by thirty boys each seeking the same information for an assignment. It was countered to some extent by asking boys not to replace books themselves but to leave them on a trolley for library staff and prefects to shelve in their correct order.

Each year our library (as all libraries) loses many books. A great effort has been made to minimize this loss and, this year, it has been confined mainly to paperbacks. That this number is steadily decreasing, however, would indicate that our unfailing efforts to eradicate all too common cases of "forgetting" to sign for borrowed books, are obviously paying off.

Thanks largely to the tireless work of Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Bibby, and Mrs. Price, 1978 has been another important year of growth and expansion for the library, and on behalf of all boys, I would like to thank them and wish the library continued success in its efforts to provide for the many and varied needs of its users.

DRAMA NOTES

David McKenzie, Donald Edge and Nicole Ellischer rehearse a scene from "They Don't Grow on Trees"

This year, Christ Church co-operated with Methodist Ladies College in two productions.

On June 1st, 2nd and 3rd M.L.C. put on "Oklahoma". Philip Sutherland did an excellent job as Curly, and Edwin Sinclair was an energetic Will Parker. Robert Scott played a suitably menacing Jud Fry. Supporting parts were competently handled by Timothy Stephenson (Ali Halsim) and a number of other boys from the school.

Towards the end of June, M.L.C. and Christ Church put on a comedy, "They Don't Grow on Trees", in Bosisto Hall. David McKenzie made a humourously frustrated Roger Lennox, and Donald Edge had the best of both worlds as Rupert Andstruther. There was good support from minor parts, and many boys were employed backstage and with lighting and front-of-house.

There were also two evenings of classroom plays early in October.

COMPUTER CLUB

A number of important changes have occurred in the computer club during the last year. The most important was Mr. Zahra's leaving the school. Mr. Zahra was the teacher responsible for the formation of the computer club — indeed, it was through his work that we were able to get the School's Commission grant required to purchase the computer. "Captain Zero" left the school in order to enter the computer business — perhaps a moral lies in this!!! However, Mr. Merrells has very amply filled his shoes as Master of the Computer Club and has shown himself to be as keen and enthusiastic as his predecessor.

The "theme" of the computer club this year was "Computers in the service of the school", and during the course of the year a division of the club, the School Computer Service, was formed, to cater for the growing need for school administration software. Among this year's work have been programmes for multiple choice test marking and analysing, audio visual record computerisation, French instruction, and the operation and modification of Mr. Zahra's "student records" suite of programmes, which kept records on each member of the school, for use in preparing setlists, houselists etc., etc.

Although this year, for the first time, Year 10's were allowed to join, membership (active, at least) has taken a sharp downward turn. This year there were only 2 Year 12 members, and no Year 11's. While this was good for the 6 computer hungry Year 10's, it is a disturbing trend, and should not continue next year.

Despite the innovation of the School Computer Service, the club again tended towards being less of a club and more of a group of computer crazed individuals this year. Also I fear that dreaded disease, "lack of ideas", is beginning to rear its ugly head. The cure for this is, in my opinion, to put onto a few tapes the very best of the current and past programmes, and wipe the remainder off the tapes. This would provide much needed programming incentive, which is lacking at the moment.

Although I seem to have many gripes, overall it has been a roundly successful year for "Foresee", and with a greater membership next year, I feel the club will move from strength to strength.

MUSIC

"A YEAR OF CHANGE"

1978 was an eventful year for all members of the music department. For the first time, we have produced a concert this term. This has meant continued involvement of students throughout the year. We have, therefore, discontinued a tradition of previous years of combining with St. Hilda's in annual musical productions.

Preparation for the first combined orchestral-choral concert began late last year with all involved launching themselves into it whole-heartedly. On the 5th May we produced the concert which was made up of various chamber music groups and soloists. Outstanding performances were given by Brett and Campbell Thompson, and also Geoffrey Forbes.

The second concert, made up of various works sung by the Christ Church choir, was performed in the chapel on 30th of July and was very successful.

On November 1st, the choir and three chamber music groups from Christ Church will be performing in a lunch time concert at St. George's Cathedral. This is the first time that members of the Christ Church music department have performed outside the school to the public and it promises to be very rewarding for all those boys involved.

On November 3rd, the wind-orchestra will be performing in the chapel. Two separate works for flute, clarinet and strings will feature in the concert. Judging by the amount of effort going into rehearsals, the standard of performance promises to be very good.

Inclusion of representatives of the string section, coming up the ranks from the Preparatory and Middle School, into our concerts was limited this year, but further contributions are imminent in the field of music from the string section in the near future.

The special music course, which begins in Year 9, is developing well and will be continuing in the future throughout Years 10, 11 and 12.

On behalf of all involved in the Music Department, I would like to express our appreciation of all the time and effort that the music staff have put in throughout 1978. Special mention must be made of Mr. Ullman, who as the senior staff member of the Music Department, has encouraged our progress and has been the main stay to our continued success. Mr. Ullman is retiring from Christ Church at the end of the year and I hope that the Music Department will continue its success in the years to come under its new director.

THE SCHOOL CHOIR

This year has been the first full year of activities for the School Choir since its reformation at the end of 1977. The Preparatory School Training Choir has maintained numbers in the Soprano line but although a well balanced sound has been achieved, very few members were admitted to the Alto Tenor or Bass lines during the year. Participation from Messrs Pemberton and Woodall in the Bass line and two outside members in the Tenor line has been of great help to the senior boys.

During first term our major appearance was at a combined choral — orchestral concert held in the chapel. We sang a broad mixture of sacred and secular items which were well received by a sizeable audience. Second term's main event was a choral concert, in which we combined with the choir of St. George's Cathedral. Each choir sang a number of items, many unaccompanied, and the two combined for a rendition of the Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's Messiah. To complete the year the choir sang on Evensong for the Patronal Festival of the Church of St. Lukes in Mosman Park; performed a lunch time concert in St. George's Cathedral, and took part in the two annual carol services in the school chapel. Several minor engagements such as the two family services each term, and the Palm Sunday service, also saw the choir in full voice.

An integral part of the choir's progress has been the noteworthy direction of Mr. Southwell, whose keenness as choirmaster has been an inspiration. Thanks also to Mrs. Dixon for her valuable assistance in the key role of accompanist.

KOORINGAL

1978 has been an eventful year for the schools "Home by the water" for it saw Koorungal change into a higher gear of operational efficiency by catering for more students and class groups visits than in any other year in the past besides a further broadening of the scope of activities, both in the camp, and in the districts of Dwellingup, Pinjarra and coastal plains down to Mandurah.

The year started with an eight day course of instruction for the potential Cadet Under Officers and Non Commissioned Officers of the Cadet Units of Christ Church Grammar School, Guildford Grammar School and Wesley College. This course was conducted a week prior to the commencement of the first term and was closely followed by the Headmaster's week-end seminar with the newly elected prefects, since that early start the camp has catered for all of the year 8 students on programmed studies, class groups in the Preparatory School ranging from P5 to P7.

Both McClellans and Walters House boarders took the opportunity to make week-end visits to the camp on leisure and area improvement programmes. The 170 members of the Cadet Unit used Koorungal as a base camp for the Duke of Edinburgh Award trial expedition and the Special Education Centre and parents spent a week-end in residence. In September the year 12 Geography conducted an extensive study of the industry, agriculture, population density, history and geography of the area from Dwellingup down to Mandurah and a very successful camp was enjoyed by the boys in year 9 German class of Christ Church and the girls of the year 9 German class of Perth College, complete with appropriate menu.

It was reported in the Chronicle early this year that a total of 1,750 students will have visited Koorungal since 1975 to the end of this year, however due to additional bookings in October November that figure will be exceeded to read 2,030 with a total of 751 for this year alone, Koorungal has come of age and is now a major part of the school curriculum.

Sweat-covered jungle green uniforms. After twelve kilometres of gruelling 'Double-timing' about thirty Christ Church cadets crossed the finishing line of the 1978 Fun Run, (in perfect rank & file of course). So ended the first major event of the cadet year.

Most of first term was spent with a vast amount of training in preparation for the April Bivouac, A-Company went through their instruction on the use of maps and compasses, familiarization with radio technique, and the general infantry tactics which would prove invaluable to them in the months to come. Pioneer-Rescue Section were kept busy learning, and practising stretcher evacuation, patient handling, and other Civil Defence skills. (Time was also given to methods of tying-up 'enemy' prisoners.) And Marines kept turning-out expertly constructed canoes

First term was topped off with a bivouac at Koorngal, involving a large joint exercise with Guildford Grammar. Reconnaissance photographs of the Nanga Road bridge (On the Murray river) were marked with the key pylons to be 'blown-up', and photos of Guildford's Commanding Officer (Capt. Gray) were also distributed. Support company assisted the main attack force (A-Coy.) with harassment. In five-man sabotage parties they penetrated deep into enemy territory. Sadly, the Nanga Rd. bridge stills stands intact, however the successful capture of Captain Gray gave us fifty thousand points.

Second term found the Unit as busy and as pushed for time as ever; In July we had an inspection of our routine training by the commander of 5 Cadet Group, Major W. D. Frost. The Pioneer-Rescue Section put on an interesting rescue performance; Mr. Tooke 'bombed M-Block, and scattered the bodies of an entire platoon around upstairs. Pioneer-Rescue promptly arrived on the scene with rescue packs, stretchers, ladders, general rescue equipment and even bright red safety helmets. Forming themselves into light and heavy rescue parties, they proceeded to evacuate M-Block in a very orderly fashion. This mock exercise proved the section's usefulness, should a full-scale emergency of this nature occur.

Next came the highlight of the year, the Northam Army Camp; a most enjoyable week during which we had enough time to carry out many large projects. Most notable was the Avon Valley exercise. (Code Name: Swordfish.) The three A-Company platoons, independently, had 30 kilometres of patrolling, river crossings, and inevitable hardships, through rough country infested with Support Coy. guerrillas. These cadets, carrying their packs, had to be alert 24 hours a day, (for three days) always ready for an ambush or full-scale assault. It was an ambitious exercise which A-Coy handled very admirably.

Support Coy., working from a secret base camp, continuously carried out sorties against the 'Good Guys' through the three days. The harassment groups were usually vastly outnumbered, requiring the element of surprise, and a quick escape plan to avoid capture by the sadistic year 10's! Through-out the exercise, the Signals section maintained a radio net right along the Avon Valley between Northam and Toodyay, for safety as well as for manouvres.

At the completion of the exercise, a group of daring gold-level Duke of Edinburgh cadets continued walking down the valley all the way to Midland!

In the camp itself, there were numerous activities, among the major ones were:

CONFIDENCE COURSE: Inter-school competition was held on a brilliant obstacle course. It was pleasing to note Christ Church's superior ability at chinning and rope-climbing. Eventually a select team, representing all sections of our Unit went on to win the confidence course competition.

SHOOTING: An entire day was spent fully familiarizing ourselves with, and firing the M-16 carbine; a light-weight 0.223 calibre weapon, capable of delivering both semi and fully automatic fire. In the final competition we took second place, with an average group of 6 11/16 inch behind Aquinas with a 6 7/16 inch group.

Captain Fraser made full use of the Army facilities, and perfect planning by our C. C. G. S. Headquarters ensured that we never had a dull nor wasted moment. The Q-Staff are also to be commended for their job of supplying the hundred and seventy cadets in the unit not only on the Northam camp, but throughout the entire year. 5-Cadet group ran the camp with men from a wide range of Army units (even the S. A. S.); I thought this was a particularly good idea, and I found it interesting and educational to talk to a number of them on service life and conditions.

Thanks must also go to the University Regiment (an Army Reserve Unit with whom we are affiliated), for their generosity in taking senior cadets on a number of Army Reserve activities and I feel sure that these opportunities have generated an interest in that regiment especially in those of us who may go on to university.

Finally (and sadly) there was no cliff-roping this year, due to the cliff face being declared unsafe. However, I am certain that those A-Coy cadets carrying on in year 11 next year will have the enthusiasm to maintain a strong Christ Church Grammar School Cadet Unit in 1979.

BOARDING HOUSE NOTES

WALTERS

In first term Walters House saw the arrival of many new boys, as there were quite a few vacant positions left by a large contingent of Year 12 boys who had departed in the previous year. The new boys came from far and wide including Mike "Des" Grigg and Nigel Thomas from Christmas Island, Paul Lee from Hong Kong, "Spike" Milligan from Paraburdoo and Lionel Jaragba who was from Groote Island.

The housemaster situation was a different story as there was only one new assistant housemaster at the beginning of first term, that being Mr. Whitford, an old boy of the school. But this situation was to change for at the end of second term we saw the departure of Mr. Nock and Mr. Whitford. In their places came Mr. Guelfi, and ex-Parry housemaster, and Mr. Dedman, a newcomer to the system.

Once again the boarders of Walters House were represented by two committees, the Social Committee and the Recreation Committee. The Social Committee tended to the dining room and general needs along with social activities, while the Recreation Committee handled any developments arising from the general running of the Recreation Centre.

All in all 1978 was a rather successful year for Walters House in several respects. One area of improvement was the actual living quarters of the boys. Extensions and renovations were carried out on the house all through third term to make way for the future cubicle set up. Also changes were experienced in the dining room with renovations being carried out on the servery layout and the adoption of a permanent choice of meals on the week days.

The changes that have taken place this year in the house re-building programme have brought about physical disruptions with two whole dormitories shifting camp to live in the Recreation Centre. This has been, to say the least, highly unusual and "living out of kitbags" has tended to make the Recreation Centre look something like a Chinese laundry. We look to next year in anticipation of a "New House" up on the hill.

This year the whole house went down to Koorungal for a weekend of recreation. On our arrival it was sunny and when we left the sun was shining but in the meantime we had rain in excess of 3 inches. Despite the conditions we survived and a good wet weekend was enjoyed by all.

This year the House has run smoothly and with no major problems, thanks must go for this to all of the Housemasters, also I would like to thank the House Captain, Rob Crossing, and the prefects Jim Barrett-Lennard, Greg Campbell, Kingley House, Lindsay McRae, Scott Isbel, Jeff Melson Myles Reid and Terry Reynolds for keeping the house running efficiently and smoothly. Also, on behalf of all the years eight to eleven I wish every year twelve student all the best in their exams and in the future. I would also like to take the opportunity to thank the Housemother, Mrs. Abbott for the wonderful job she did throughout the year in keeping seventy-two boys neat, tidy, and well-dressed.

McCLEMANS

Lack of apathy was quite evident in the McCleman's House spirit this year. This was shown by the contribution around the house and at school. This fine "esprit de corps" was exemplified by many fine efforts. Bruce Strapp excelled in a mature role in the Mr. Christ Church competition showing remarkable eloquence and wit with such gems as, "G'day!" Gus Hemery and Andy "Mob" Marriott again gallantly gave up valuable prep and spare time to project various films. An active Boarders' Social Committee comprised of the McClemans' intellectuals like Tony Guinness, Tom and David Moyes, Ashley McDonald, with Andy Metcalfe doing the scribbling, did a fine job.

The fine religious air of McClemans was illustrated by the McClemans-dominated chapel committee. Ecclesiastical authorities like Geoff Reemeyer, John Barton, Glen Myatt, Bruce Strapp, Darius Crowe and Murray Pearce were always brimming with enthusiasm on Sunday mornings. Tony Guinness, Andy Metcalfe, Murray Pearce and tall Roger Newman convinced everybody with dynamic ideological theories why they were best for the school tuckshop. Basil Herman made a fine contribution though he did tend to corrupt some of the more innocent boarders such as Trevor McCracken, Malcolm Rogers and others. Kevin "Bone" McCracken did a worthy job as the house mailman.

McClemans House was never really dull this year, whether it was Geoff "Wops" Reemeyer "pogoring" to some punk music or Tony Reger dreaming of seagulls nearby. An obvious example of this was the Koorungal weekend. Everybody really got involved and had a good time — thanks to the Rogers and Mr. Davis for their help.

Finally a vote of thanks to the hard working Mrs. Cramer, the dynamic trio of pseudo intellectuals — Mr. Grigg, Mr. Kelly and Mr. Hill. These three gallant gentlemen took every mutinous outbreak in their stride, reflecting their case — hardened natures.

Above all, Mr. House deserves a special mention for his continuous efforts along with Mrs. House, whose cooking efforts were always appreciated. Best of luck to all members of the house and I hope you do as well next year.

HOUSE NOTES

CRAIGIE HOUSE REPORT

House Masters: P. J. Rickey; H. Woodall; D. M. Van Kempen; P. J. Lund.

House Officials: Captain R. E. Pixley; Vice-Captain D. N. McKenzie; Secretary R. R. Gunning.

The year got off to a surprisingly good start with Craigie winning the first sporting event on the agenda, that being the interhouse swimming sports. Such a success was only possible through the responsive team effort made and through such stars as Rowan Pixley (our beloved House Captain) who became the Open Champion and King, who was the U/15 champion. A fine effort was also to be seen by Edgley and Cox. In the lifesaving Craigie took a commendable third position. Although there was undoubtedly a warm team spirit to be found in Craigie, when it came to standards there was little physical evidence of this and attendance was minimal.

In second term Craigie made quite an impact on the Winter Sports scene with 2nd XV Rugby being characterised by Craigie boys. Rowan Pixley and the starry 2nd XV winger Tim Flaherty. Craigie was also well represented in Hockey with Chris Tulk, Paul White, Phillip Kakulas and Peter Kernot all playing in the 1st IX. House members were also to be found in the cross-country team those being James Darling (already a celebrity due to his active help in "House Collections" for Social Services) and Geoffrey Dean.

Before I have you thinking that Craigie House was simply made up of good looking athletes, may I also point out we were not lacking in the ol' frontal lobe either. This being well displayed in the inclusion of Michael Wells in the It's Academic Team.

In third term Craigie did particularly well to come third in the Athletics. A commendable effort by our running star Tim Flaherty and our newly found discus star, Russel Bevan, who in his first throw ever broke the school record.

Due to humiliating name-calling from other houses, and a highly emotional speech made by our captain, attendance to minor games in third term was greatly improved and the "Craigie rejects", as we were so unjustly called, had even striven to win a few games.

In conclusion, I feel congratulations must go to Rowan Pixley who, if nothing else, added even great character to an already colourful house. Thanks must also go to David McKenzie (Vice-Captain) and the Housemasters who supported Rowan throughout the year.

JUPP HOUSE REPORT

House Masters: Mr. K. W. Hopkins; Mr. C. H. Watkins; Mr. C. J. Williams; Mr. R. T. Woollatt.

House Officials: Captain P. M. Smith; Vice-Captain A. B. McGowan; Treasurer M. K. Trenchet.

This year, Jupp has let itself slip into mediocrity in some fields, yet there have been moments of glory.

We started the year well, surprising the rest of the school with improvements on last year's swimming and lifesaving, including the memorable Open Rescue Relay win, and Tim Plester's courageous "Iron Man" display. Around the same time, Roly Smith was leading the 1st XI to a good season, while Andrew Watts was proving himself one of the top tennis players in the P. S. A. competition.

Second term was not our best, as far as direct Inter-House competition was concerned. Our team for the Cross-Country Championships had only moderate depth and corresponding success. Individually, however, Juppian continued to excel right across the school's activities. Peter Smith had an excellent hockey season, being selected in the combined P. S. A. schools' team. Andrew McGowan was prominent in Debating, being chosen in the State school students' team, while Ian Doust dispelled any lingering doubt about our intellectual prowess with an outstanding season of chess with the school team.

And now into last term, which must be termed a mixed bag. In the athletics standards competition, our overall performance was marred by disappointing attendances in the open age group, and we finished fifth, well below our potential.

The Inter-House Athletics Championships saw Jupp in the unenviable position of defending its "Top Day Boy House" title. We might have done this successfully but for poor turn-outs both for heats and on the day itself. The apathy this shows has been the most disheartening feature of this year for Jupp. As it was, many creditable performances by individuals and by the Senior School tug-of-war team. For the latter, the competition was a mixture of the good, the bad and the ugly.

Minor games are not Jupp's forte either, considering the number of eighth place play-offs we are participating in.

There are also some year long performances worth mentioning: The Treasury Dept. (Mason Trenchet and Richard Smyth) have extracted fair collections through their rack-and-thumbcrew division; House Captain Peter Smith has been tireless in all fields of organization.

Thanks must go to our staff members, who, ably prime-moved us through '78. Jupp has a great deal of talent in its ranks, and with the right attitude from the members, next year could be a green one.

McCLEMANS HOUSE NOTES

House Masters: Mr. R. F. House; Mr. G. P. Davis; Mr. P. M. Draper; Mr. J. Luttrell.

House Officials: Captain J. V. R. Adamson; Vice-Captain A. M. Guinness; Secretary A. J. Metcalfe.

This year McClemans has excelled itself in most sporting activities and at the present we are leading in the house competition and our prospects of winning the Beatty Cup are high. Once again McClemans came a disappointing last in the swimming but not due to lack of effort. Some outstanding performances were given by Campbell Thomson and Mike George.

In the lifesaving we turned the tables and consequently gained third place. This was due to an outstanding team effort captained by Bruce "Jock" Strapp, who came third in the iron man event.

In first term we were well represented in 1st teams in all sports. Notably were Glen Myatt, Vice-Captain of the basketball, Rob Tucker, Ash "Potential" McDonald and Andrew "Mong" Moyes, rowing in the 1st VIII, with Rob Tucker stroke of the crew. Eric Glass excelled in the 1st XI cricket.

Second term saw the start of winter sports with many members of the house in first teams. In football we were represented by Jim "Fat Adi" Adamson, Rob Tucker, Glen Moir, Paul "Koala" Michael, Ash "Potential" McDonald and the deadly double Campbell and Brett Thomson.

In the hockey we had Al Putt who was Vice-Captain, Andrew Metcalfe and "Percy" Richmond playing consistently.

Rugby was not as strong as football and hockey as we were only represented by Geoff "Wops up" Reemeijer. Mike Smart was also a worthy contributor to the cross-country team.

After narrowly beating Walters in the semi-finals of the house basketball we were unfortunately defeated by Noake in the finals.

The chess team, captained by Gus Henery, came a well earned fifth.

For the first time in four years the house cross-country team, lead by Ash McDonald, ran through Walters to victory. The stars of the star studded team were Nigel Draynton, Mal Thomson, John Carrington-Jones, Dennis and Mike Smart.

Third term saw the start of the Athletics, and, with spirits high just after the camp at Korringal, and Walters spirit low after a wet weekend, we took off the standards competition and were unfortunate only to come second in the house athletics. After springing big Mal Thomson from sick bay he went on to become the under 14 champion. In the open 100m sprint Jim Adamson just failed to roll to victory and came a large second. Ash McDonald showed his potential and hopped on to a record breaking win in the triple jump. After this supreme effort in the Athletics McClemons is now well represented in the school athletics team.

In the minor games competition which is still incomplete, McClemons looks poised to win the volleyball, softball and a likely 3rd in squash.

To conclude I would like to thank all those members of the house who contributed and especially Mr. House and the tutorial masters "Speedy" Davis, Monsieur Draper and Mr. Luttrell who defected from Wolsey to join us. I hope all the spirit and "goodies" enjoyed this year will lay the foundations to an even greater year in 1979.

NOAKE HOUSE

House Masters: Mr. R. E. Merrells, Mrs. A. J. Jackson, Mr. J. A. Pemberton, Mr. L. P. Radonovich.

House Officials: Captain A. F. Whitford; Vice-Captain R. J. Lewis; Secretary P. Cosson.

1978 has been a year of many disappointments on the sporting field for Noake. These disappointments have been balanced with success off the sporting fields.

The first disappointment occurred in the swimming pool with Noake finishing 6th in the swimming and 7th in the lifesaving. Judging on the under 13 result, Noakes' swimming team in the future should be very successful. The under 13 freestyle relay team of D. Burton, M. Lewis, A. Brogan and M. Wilson won in record time, and also on that night D. Burton broke another record, that of the under 13 50 metres freestyle.

Mention must also be given to swimming captain Doug Hill who finished 5th overall in the open age group on championship points and who finished 5th in the iron man competition.

Not being defeated by our failure in the swimming, Noake took out first place in the Senior and Middle School basketball. Scott Samuels and Richard Lewis showed the boarding houses how the game is meant to be played. While the Shepherd duo in the Middle School claim their winning formulae was their mouths! Special mention to Michael Fuller who showed exceptional skills in the art of basketball.

The success of the basketball was soon forgotten by the time of the cross country in which we finished 5th.

Andrew Sullivan (following in big brothers footsteps) did well to finish 1st in the Under 17 age group as did Ian Crane who won the under 13 competition and D. Burton (second under 13).

Third term saw the house track and field team led by Scott Samuels on the new track at Perry Lakes. Our lack of training on this new track was the contributing factor to our 7th place. Outstanding achievements on the day were by Ian Crane, who won the under 13 championship Cup, D. Burton breaking the under 13 triple jump record and Michael Whitford winning the under 16 Cup.

Our big success for the year has been winning the 1978 inaugural Social Service Collections trophy in both first and second term and trying for a hat-trick in third term.

The Senior School chess team captained by David Lang finished a strong second with Bill Skinner playing some good games. In the Middle School John Shepherd led his team into 3rd place.

Special mention must go to Mr. Merrells and the other housemasters and mistresses for their help and guidance throughout the year.

Although we have not been very successful sporting-wise, if there was an award for the most intelligent house and for the greatest spirited house, Noake would be winners.

If the spirit in the house continues next year, then the "Brown Bombers" will be able to persevere and win the cup. All the best for 1979.

QUEENSLEA HOUSE REPORT

House Masters: Mr. Hammond, Mr. Mountier, Mrs. Fortune, Mr. Morrissey.

House Officials: House Captain S. Annear; House Vice-Captain M. Henderson; House Secretary P. Annear; House Treasurer J. Harry.

A look at the record books this year will show very few major triumphs. In major sports such as swimming and athletics the Queenslea successes were few as were the victories in minor games. This can be attributed to two factors.

Firstly was the drastic shortage of Year 12's in our house. Only one Year 12 in Queenslea made a first team and that was Michael "Hendo" Henderson who made the first XV. Secondly, and this being pure bad luck, Queenslea happened to draw a boarding house in the first game of most of our minor games. The all-too-powerful boarding houses relegated us to the bottom four of the respective competitions in most cases.

But there were some noteworthy performances. A resounding 52-0 victory over Craigie in the basketball was a great effort. Unfortunately it followed two successive losses to the boarding houses. A good all round performance in the lifesaving including winning the under 17 medley relay was gratifying. A feature of our swimming and athletics was the strength in the Middle School. These boys can look to the future to again take Queenslea to winning heights.

Another feature of 1978 was the strength of our Year 11's augers well for next year. In summer we saw Hamish Carnarchan make the 1st VIII tennis, Ross Larard 1st V basketball and Dave Hay in the 1st VIII rowing.

Winter sports saw David Hurst and Mike Henderson making the 1st XV Rugby, this was Queenslea's strength this year. We had five boys in the 1st XVIII including the Knox trio of Dave, Mike and Greg. Also in the 1st XVIII was Peter "Fingers" Annear who also made the 1st V basketball. Another 1st XVIII footballer as well as 1st XI cricketer was Dave "Thurles" Thurling, Dave proved to be a walking, talking Queenslea banner this year. To cries of "take your Queenslea helmet off Thurles", Dave captained our potentially starring basketball team.

Queenslea's generosity in house collections is well known as we came second this year. Thanks to John Harry for his consistent hassling of the few reluctant givers.

Next year sees Queenslea with an extremely strong Year 12. This will provide the basis for sound organisation by these guys. They can shove the work load and I'm sure Queenslea will again rise to be feared by boarders and day boys alike.

ROMSEY

House Masters: Mr. R. H. Dixon; Mr. D. C. Bowker; Mr. L. S. Owen; Mr. A. L. Pate.

House Officials: Captain Kurt Zink; Vice-Captain Nigel Forrester; Secretary Geoffrey Forbes; Treasurer Franklin Tate.

"THE YEAR OF THE FLYING-R"

The year began with a quick face-lift for the boys in blue, with the advent of our own Romsey House symbol, the flying-R (a winged, abstract letter "R"). After this new wrapper was pushed through Romsey's partially democratic rule, our benevolent captain had this to say, "The flying-R is a symbol to which the Romsey masses can proudly pledge their unconditional devotion to the house in its quest for domination of the interhouse sporting events. Now when Romsey boys fling themselves into the icy waters of lake Romsey (previously known as the school pool) they can associate themselves with the symbol above them, thereby uniting them all in the common cause against the superpower houses. This feeling of unity gets the adrenalin running, which in turn can improve a 50m freestyle time by 15 seconds, and helps us to fend off houses such as the imperialistic Wolsey, or the mind-less Queenslea".

Already results have appeared, with our house meetings being changed from Q-Block to M-Block.

Moving to the important events of the Romsey-year. On charges of high treason, Alisdair Putt was formally banished to McClemons, with the hopeless word of "never to return". On the bright side of things, the persistent efforts of our treasurer Frank Tate kept our collections second only to the devious Noake-house. Our handsome "Mr. Romsey 1978" (Steve Burston) used his great Romsey-charm on Miss Nadolski (and her charming assistant judges) to clinch second place at the "Mr. Christ Church" competition, narrowly losing to a Wolsey creature with an exotic name. Good, wholesome Mark Rosman led our squash team into battle. In one of our volleyball battles, John Loh (brother of King Reg of the now deposed King Reg regime) received a nasty blister, (such senseless spilling of Romsey blood to satisfy the blood-thirsty Craigieites!). In the house shooting, I believe we shot 357 boys from enemy houses. In the life-saving we saved 179 lives. In the desert sands of the C.C.G.S. Mt. Claremont Cross-Country course (now known as the Great Romsey Desert) I'm sure we lost a few Romsey boys, hence we would appreciate it if next year's Cross-Country runners would keep an eye out for any skeletons.

The big job of preparing an army for the athletics was well handled by Geoff Forbes and Nigel Forrester.

Countless other loyal subjects of the flying-R must be thanked, most notably those Year 11 Romseyites who shouldered large responsibilities in third term, and those over-thirty persons in the house.

WALTERS

House Masters: Mr. A. H. London, Mr. P. S. Hopper, Mr. M. J. Sibson, Mr. P. Tooke.

House Officials: Captain R. J. Crossing; Vice-Captain J. I. Barrett-Lennard; Treasurer R. T. Scott; Secretary R. L. Clarke.

What can be said in a Walters report that wasn't said last time around? So strong are house spirit and tradition, that the same strengths (and weaknesses) doggedly recur, year upon year.

Again, the predominant feature has been the enthusiasm of house members — a common effort and a shared pride in Walters' achievements.

In 1977 style, swimming saw us sink to seventh place. I won't mention our victory over "the other house" in swimming, as they soundly defeated our lifesaving effort. Thanks go to Jib-L and Lindsay for co-ordination of our swimming.

As usual, school sporting teams were well laced with Walter's guys. We had more than proportional representation in all sports teams, except hockey, and that's not beyond tradition.

Looking at term two, was the cross-country duel. Shame of shames, second we were to McClemons. Congratulations must go to them for pipping us, — twice in one year! Could it be something to do with their lovely ties?

The minor games competitions went well for the house, particularly in the senior divisions. The whole competition, even in areas where we didn't expect to do so well showed remarkable determination and effort. Special thanks in regards the games competition should go to P. R. officer, Andy Firman, a cross between avid supporter and compulsive graffitist.

On behalf of the house, I now wish to publicly gloat over our athletics achievements. First, again, I think we all consider this particular victory the one worth most. In a style concurrent with the boringly predictable and impeccably fair house competition, boarders were the dominant force and, of course, Walters dominated the boarders. Despite having fewer stars and first places than the other house, we won by having greater "depth" in the team and, I think, by a stronger will to win. (So much for the ties!)

Priding ourselves in being fanatically competitive, sincere congratulations and thanks must go not so much to individuals, as to everybody — regardless of whether competitor or supporter, all of Walters.

This year Wolsey has kept up the enthusiasm and the house spirit that has put them high up in the House Competition in the last two years.

This house spirit and enthusiasm came to the fore in the first two inter-house competitions — swimming and lifesaving. Wolsey finished second and first respectively in the two competitions. Much of the success was due to the leadership of Andrew "Yumbo" Smith (he left the other houses floundering in his wake). Not only did "Yumbo" ably lead the house but also the school in the P. S. A. swimming carnival. Those to perform successfully in the pool for Wolsey were Peter King, Scott Rigney, Neil Worrell, Dirk Steensma and Todd Jenkins.

Mention must be made of the outstanding effort performed by the Wolsey members of the 1st XI cricket team, especially Bill Breidahl. Bill increased his total of wickets from last year's record 42 to a new record of 45 wickets in only six fixtures. Bill was supported by other house members Tim Stephenson and Patrick Seward in their attempts to hold the Darlot Cup at Christ Church.

Wolsey showed its variety of talent when it won the "intellectual" sport of chess (Tim Stephenson and Charlie Collin), and came a close second in the bruising sport, rugby. Wolsey were well represented in the 1st team with "triers" Peter King, Yumbo "Ma-brain-hurts" Smith, Scott Rigney and Carl Young.

The introduction of the minor sports game, basketball, into first term activities gave Wolsey an opportunity to test our strength against other houses early on in the year. With "giants" like Mark "Smunt" Morrissy and Peter Morris, Wolsey finished favourably in the middle order. Other incompleated minor games are squash (where we have found a lion in "mouse's" clothing — Graham Rowston) in which Wolsey has easily played itself into the finals of both Senior and Middle School competitions. The other minor game currently being played (at the time of writing) is volleyball and Wolsey have battled hard to be playing off for 3rd and 4th positions in both sections of the school.

A dwindling of the fire and enthusiasm shown earlier in the year, saw Wolsey lose its stranglehold on the house competition. This was due to poor efforts in the later stage of the year especially in cross-country. However, the Middle School representatives kept Wolsey's hopes alive with a fine third behind the boarding houses in the standards.

In the last major house competition of the year, athletics, Wolsey made a concerted effort under the leadership of Tim Stephenson, who set a record for the open high jump. With this as an example early in the programme, the other athletes tried all day but were "pipped-at-the-post" for third position, by Craigie. Outstanding individual efforts came from Tim Stephenson, Scott Rigney, David "Macca" McKenzie, Mick Leary, Drew Raad and "Hutch" Hutchins.

In conclusion, 1978 can be seen as a very successful year and thanks must go to all the house members for their help, large and small, to Charlie Wittenoom who kept us all (twice a week) trying to avoid his outstretched palm, and last but by no means least, the four house masters who have kept the boys under control in even the most trying conditions.

CRICKET

I like the game of cricket
Because it is a lot of fun,
But when you lose your wicket
Be sure you've made some runs,
If you score a duck
It may be just bad luck,
And you may lose the game
And that would be a shame.

THE TIGER

The tiger is a savage beast with long and pointed claws,
It runs like the wind on its big strong legs and flat, soft paws,
With its black and orange stripes
and its smooth warming fur,
Charging after an antelope trying to catch her,
Dust blows in his fiery eyes but still he charges on.
He hopes he'll catch two antelopes
but only catches one.

HOW THE PORCUPINE GOT ITS SPIKES

Long, long, ago the porcupines did not have spikes on their backs. One day a porcupine named Pip asked his mum and dad if he could go for a walk. He walked for a long time, then he heard footsteps, barking and shouting. Of course he was curious, so he looked over the sand bank where he saw a boy and a dog running around a bush. Pip could see what they were doing. He saw another porcupine and he said to himself, "I'll save him".
He ran across the barren sand. The boy saw him, but the second one didn't. He could not move and lay down as if he was dead. The boy decided to eat him.
Pip opened his eyes and saw a hole not far away. He darted across to it. Before he got there he had 100 spears in his back. When he married all his children had spikes and so on for all the generations to come.
That is how the porcupines got their spikes.

YEAR 5

First

Experiences

My First Prize Night

At first we watched Graham Moss train at Claremont. Then we went inside and had some Coke and Kentucky Fried Chicken. After dessert we had prize night. The "Tens" prize night started. I knew I had a chance but I had big opposition in Robert Whatt. I was so nervous I went to the toilet every five minutes. I won one trophy at the beginning but towards the end when the Runner-up was about to be called I got very nervous because both our names start with Robert. I won the Fairest and Best by just a few points. I had to make a speech to our coach. When we got outside Dad and Mum congratulated me and Mum gave me Red Rooster the next night.

ROBBIE PHILLIPS

The Speech Competition

I walked up to the chapel. Nervous as I was, I had to go through with the challenge. I looked down at my two blue cards. "Good afternoon teachers, judges and boys." Yes, I know that pretty well. Could I afford to make a mistake? I looked at my opposition: David Anthony, Charles Bolt, Gavin Hall, Stephen Lemonis, Bruce Munns, Richard Tunbridge, and Laurie Watt. I looked at Richard as the pair of us hurried down the back aisle. We both went into the front row. "God, your late," said Gavin. I was put in between Charles Bolt and Gavin. Mumbles came out from every direction. "That's enough of that talking," Mr. Keeley shouted. Mr. Ranger came over and told us what to put the cards on. The time came near for me to do my speech. I walked up to the pulpit and put my cards down near the tape recorder. Grey blurs surrounded me. I looked up to see if I could make out where the judges were. Vaguely I saw Mr. Ranger. This time I could make no mistake.

After the speech I sat down and waited for the judges decision. It seemed like ages, like another hundred speeches before the judges came down. "Well I'd like to congratulate all of you on your fine speeches," Miss Denney said. My heart beat faster. "Come on, Come on." "Honourable Mentions go to Richard Tunbridge and Charles Bolt." "That blows me out," I thought. "Second prize goes to Stephen Lemonis." "First or nothing." "And First prize goes to Toby Eggleston."

"ME?"

TOBY EGGLESTON

My First Ball Of Cricket

I was in Grade 4, and it was my first inter-school cricket match. We were going over to St. Louis to play. It was hot, dry and sticky. We lost the toss and were sent in to bat. They started talking about Gus who was their fast bowler and was said to paralyse your fingers.

Nicky went in to bat and you could hear the crack of the bat on ball. We were cheering for our batsmen. When someone got out you could hear the HOWZAT and there was a spell of wicked laughing. I was fiddling with my fingers, my heart went crazy and I was sweating which led up to butterflies and nervousness.

Excitably I walked to the crease. I was facing Gus. The wind wind rushed past me and there was a tremendous detonation of gloves and ball as the 'wicky' caught the ball. It happened two more times until I actually hit it. His over was finished but I got out the next over.

I had overcome my fear and I felt normal again.

NEIL McDONALD

Being Sent Outside For The First Time

"Now boys, don't look at the card or talk.

Put your head on the desk," were Mrs. Mortlock's first words after lunch. Our teacher put the card up on the board and being the curious person that I am, I looked at the card and whispered to my next-door neighbour (Calum Laing) "Its the letter 'E'."

He replied, "Yes, E for elephant."

Unfortunately Mrs. Mortlock heard Calum and said, "Who was that naughty boy who spoke?"

Calum and I put our hands up.

"Well you two horrible, naughty boys can go outside!"

Calum and I went outside. I thought I was going to be expelled and that would make my Mum and Dad mad.

Later we were told to go inside and take three stars off. So I really worried about nothing.

RICHARD TUNBRIDGE

My First Trip To The Dentist

As I was coming home from school one day, I heard my Mum saying that my sister was going to the dentist. Of course I thought it would be fun having a sister with no teeth but would not laugh if it was me. Later Mum said I had to go too. A week later all three of us went to the dentist surgery. We parked in the Boans car park just near the dentist surgery. We saw a red bricked building and heard an air conditioner. When we stepped in there was a change of smell. In the surgery it smelt of antiseptic and outside it smelt of fuel. We sat down and waited for a few minutes while a few nurses ran about the place. In about three minutes my sister was called up to see Mr. Coming. Within fifteen minutes Mum and I were called in to see what was happening. My sister was allright and Mr. Coming was just explaining what would have to be done. After he had finished talking to Mum, he invited me to sit in his chair. "No, thank you," I said. In the car I asked myself what would happen when I did have to go to the dentist.

Go and cool your flame,
For the Aussie bushland,
Don't need you any day!

YESTERDAY — C. Johnson.

The awful windy day,
the awful windy wind,
Albie blew.

Albie tore, and pulled the place to smithierines.

As bad as a hurricane,
it went through the city.

And one by one the houses fell.

The dust in the sky was very thick,
and the wind pulled down all the wires,
and left the people horrified.

YESTERDAY — A. Tetlow.

Yesterday was a horrifying experience!

The cyclonic weather was like a tornado.

It was ripping up houses, cars, trees.

Everything that got in its way crushed to smithierines.

It pulled down electricity wires.

It left every-one in darkness.

There was a sigh of relief when it finished.

YESTERDAY — G. Hall.

It was gritty, gloomy, filthy and dusty.

No light. Couldn't see a thing.

You couldn't even walk under a tree or, SPLAT.

The cyclone was here, more windier than ever.

Doors slamming, breaking, smashing.

Radios cracking, burbling, sizzling.

At last in bed fast asleep,

THE TREASURE MAP — T. Moss

One night as I was strolling along the glowing beach.

The waves grew high as mountains and rocks made up a reef.

I could see the sand quite clearly on the moonlit beach.

And then I kicked a rock, or something that I thought,

I saw it was a bottle with a letter in it of some sort.

I took it into my tent to examine it a bit.

The letter was a map, a treasure
'twas it.

I looked and found the treasure,
and took it to the museum.

They said it was worth $2,000,000

Inside the museum, the treasure still stands.

CHRIST CHURCH SCHOOL CHOIR

The Christ Church School Choir under the leadership of Mr Southwell has worked hard this year. There are 39 boys in the choir from years 4 to 12.

The treble section of the choir trains two mornings a week on Wednesdays and Fridays, while on Thursdays a combined choir practice is held with the altos, tenors and basses.

At the end of the first term the choir and the orchestra put on a concert. In second term, we combined with the St George's Cathedral Choir, and concluded our performance with a rendering of the Hallelujah Chorus from "The Messiah". So far in third term the choir has sung at St Luke's Church, Cottesloe, and plans to give a lunch-time concert in St George's Cathedral as well as preparing for the end-of-term Carol Services.

I should like to thank Mrs Dixon and Mr Southwell for their efforts on behalf of the Choir. We have learnt some really great songs this year, so if you enjoy singing, why not join the Choir? New members are always welcome.

THE SURFER

Tim Woodall

As the waves crackle like fire on the burning sand,
The surfer wrestles against the strength of the sea - and loses.
He turns and rolls till he is dumped on the shore, wet and cold.
The stinging sand bites deep into his flesh,
He leaps up and plunges into the waves once more.
He runs his surfboard into the waves and turns
For the last wave he'll ever ride.

He stands - falls - Aaaaaarrrrrrggggghhhh - - -

He lies dead on the sand, his neck snapped in two.

The sea has taken another life.

SURFY

Peter Kirkness

In my boardies I rode to the beach,
On a bright sunny day when the waves were high,
And I waited for a wave to pass me by.
After waiting a while along it came,
And up I got and came through the foam,
But was dumped on the beach and collapsed with a groan.
My mother had followed and watched through the trees,
She ran to the beach and helped me to rise,
And gave me a new surfboard - oh, what a surprise!

SURF CHASER

Stephen Lemonis

With a bright, shining surfboard

He's off to chase the waves.

Paddles through the sandy, white foam

To wait for a breaker.

With that look of excitement

As he swerves

On the top of a wave,

Heading right back where he started.

All the hours of pleasure -

Yet he never gives up,

He only needs the breakers and his board.

The wind roars,

The sea foams,

And the surfer's dream

Has come true.

The First Hockey Team this year competed against several strong teams from other schools, and did well to come fourth in the Lightning Premiership

We had many new players this year, and it took some time for the team to function well. The seven games we played in the State Schoolboys' Championship early in the season proved to be valuable experience.

The Preparatory School 1st XV111 had very little success during the 1978 season. Our inter-school matches were played with great spirit but without any success. We fared a little better in the Lightning Carnival, winning two games.

We beat John XX111 easily, then Wesley. We were then beaten by Scotch and Trinity.

The team stuck to its task throughout the year, and I would like to thank the team sincerely for its effort. I should also like to thank Mr Fagan for the time and effort he spent with the team.

The "A" team consisted of four players, Stephen Lemonis, Jason Constable and Paul Foster (who was replaced by Karl Ivankovich), while Robert Wall, Paul Frenis, James Compton and Jamie Wood made up the "B" team. There were thirteen other teams in both divisions.

The "A" team won about forty out of the fifty-two games played, which put us in a mediocre ninth position. Our strongest opponents were Wesley, Darlington and Lake Gwelup. The "B" team won forty-eight of their games, which put them in second position in their division.

The Joke That Went Wrong

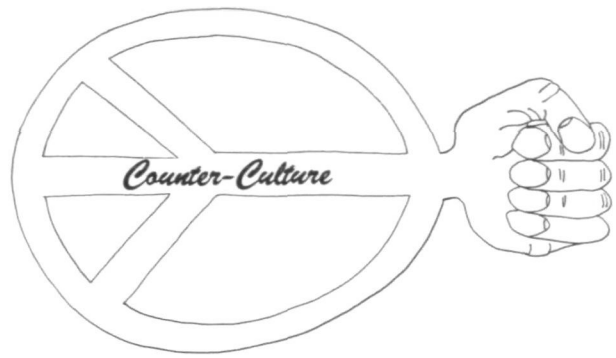

"Bullseye!" exclaimed Max jubilantly. He had just struck the front left hand tyre of a Toyota Corolla with a rotten apple from our back yard. There we were, Max and Billy Penter, hiding behind a wall of bushes, heaving rotten apples at passing cars. No more than six cars had managed to dodge the ambush we had given in the past twenty minutes. "Whoeee! what a ripper that one was. Ya see it? he queried. "Yep", came my reply. As I bent down to pick out a couple more apples from a tattered Swan Lager box I noticed there weren't very many of our prized possessions left. "Hey Max, we're running low on ammo". "Yeah I know. Whose turn to reload?" I was reluctant to tell the truth, but I thought it was for the best. "Mine", "thought so. You'd better hurry, there's only a dozen left". With that I tipped the box over and sprinted through the side gate until I was under the apple tree, where many apples had fallen. Within a minute the box was full. I cantered back to the sabotage area.

Five minutes later there were only about six apples left. "It's your turn to load up the ammo", I informed Max. "Hold on I just want to have a shot at this old lady". "What are you aiming for?" "That clean window". "But there isn't a clean . . ." It was too late. Max had already hurled the ozzing rotten apple at full speed. Then it happened. "Splurt". The innocent old lady was victim of a "Maxwell Super Special". Worse was to follow. Surprisingly she lost control of her car and it started swerving from side to side. To the dismay of both Max and I a five-tonne truck came thumping down the road in the opposite direction.

I didn't see what happened next for I turned around and closed my eyes. However, I do know that I heard a thud and a hiss. About a minute later I turned around and saw the old lady's car half way up a tree trunk. Fortunately she wasn't hurt, but Max and I had learnt our lesson.

As far as I know, there's always been a Counter-Culture, in one form or another. Ever since the dawn of time, when man first crawled out of the primordial slime, youth has been questioning, contradicting and disobeying. I guess in some periods of history the young were suppressed so much that they accepted their parents' views as their own, but even then there was often some sort of subversive, radical "intelligentsia" who refused to conform.

Usually the periods in which Counter-Culture appears (i.e. comes out into the open) have come in cycles. In the first half of the 20th Century Jazz was born, and for a while it was a focus of youth rebellion. Soon, however, the Jazz generation grew up, and their music subsided into schmaltz, show-biz and Tin-Pan Alley — with a few exceptions.

Then in the middle of the 1950's Rock'n Roll was formed as a mixture of modern white consciousness with earthy black Rhythm and Blues roots. It was the latter that worried the parents: their kids listening to . . . uh, "nigger-music". Bill Haley made the first popular Rock'n Roll records, but he was fat, fortyish and kiss-curved — hardly inspiring as the leader of a revolution.

The kids found their figurehead in a handsome truck-driving boy from Memphis Tennessee, named Elvis Aaron Presley. Because of him, the movement crystallised and found an image, the hips of Elvis, and the smashing "packing-case" beat of the Sun Sessions. For the first time in decades the kids had their own wild entertainment. Rock'n Roll made it bearable, even enjoyable, to be a teenager.

And yet by 1960 Rock'n Roll was in Rue Morgue. Elvis came back from the army desexed and sanitised, throughout the 60's the movie industry sucked his sexuality from him like a vampire.

Now he sang little else but ballads and sop like everybody else. You looked as far as you could, and all there was, was Pat Boone, Anita Bryant, and Fabian.

The second great movement of Rock'n Roll Counter-Culture was not simply one of entertainment (as the '50's revolution had been) but a "socio-political" one as well. The British rock scene of the 1960's was catalysed (in terms of lyrical approach) by a number of things, the Beat poets in America, Aldermaston and the satire boom in England, and most importantly, Bob Dylan's fusion of poetry and pop. Under these influences, groups such as the Beatles, the Rolling Stones, the Kinks and the Who began to perform rock songs less concerned with lost loves or new dance-crazes than with politics, teenage frustration and boredom, drugs, hypocrisy and so on.

This approach precipitated into more than just a cult — it became a culture; a real mass youth culture for the Western world. It was a rejection of the basic moral institutions of government and family, and of the economic, religious and educational systems of modern society, and like all true cultures it was multi-faceted.

Earlier, in the 50's, only beatniks and a few jazz freaks took drugs. But the 60's became what they were because many millions of people indulged in intoxicants such as marijuana, amphetamines, cocaine and heroin. Yet strangely enough, the single most important drug of the period was none of the aforementioned. It was the chemical LSD, which gave the "groovy trip" to the kids. LSD, being a very "psychedelic" drug, resulted in "psychedelia" — : an amusing mish-mash of acid-rock, kaleidoscopes, love-beads, kaftans and, — wait for it — flower power.

In around 1967 the centre of Counter-Culture activity moved away from the Mods of London and established itself the Promised Land: California, and more specifically in the Haight-Ashbury district of San Francisco. In a word, hippydom. It was within this frame of mind that Counter-Culture realized its peak, during the years 1967-69. There was talk of revolution, of youth taking over the world, but unfortunately hippy aims and philosophies were too diverging and spineless. Nevertheless there were some soul-stirring events: the Beatles released "Sgt. Peppers", Charles Manson killed people, Andy Warhol painted pictures of soup cans. There were student riots in Ohio and Chicago, half a million people attended Woodstock for three days of love, peace and whatever. Hells Angels murdered a man at the Rolling Stones Altamont concert barely five months later.

And it was unlike any other Counter-Culture because it used mass communication: the radio, the record-player and the T. V. This meant that washed-out hippies could get in the news all over the world by burning draft cards and reviling the war in Vietnam. This meant that the most obscure and outrageous minority groups had a microphone of sorts.

In 1970, the music became louder and heavier, and there were even more drugs. But although the hippies lingered on, they no longer talked of revolution.

Worst of all, Rock'n Roll in the 70's has settled down once again into boredom and shmaltz: it is, more than ever before, controlled by the record companies and big-business operators. Where once the music was a voice of youth rebellion, now it's in the sterilizing, censoring hands of Wolfman Jack, and his capitalist cohorts.

The new system continues to provide cheap thrills for the young (drugs, discos, etc.) but it has also successfully sterilized the revolutionary spirit of Rock'n Roll.

The noble concepts of the 60's have been swamped in saccharine, and sadly, the general public is far too ignorant and apathetic to object.

And yet I think the hippies did indeed achieve their revolution, although nobody realized it at the time. They changed the way we live and the way we think in many subtle ways. They introduced ecology-consciousness into the modern state of mind. They diseased it with drugs and exposed it to obscenity, making it less easily shocked.

It's important (and a little wonderful) to know that most people have at least a tiny bit of hippy in them in 1978. Before the "revolution" people were not as concerned about caring for the environment as they are today. Neither were people as open to alternative lifestyles or beliefs (especially Eastern ones) as they are today.

Hippy Counter-Culture did something very important in the 20th Century. It made people (real masses of people) stop, look around and ask "where are we heading? Is technological progress ultimately fulfilling? Are the older generation running the world properly?"

Thanks to the hippies, these questions are still being asked all of the time. But the revolution is over, now it's up to the individual.

Don't lose your head, or

Looking Back

Looking back, I think I miss: The sharp stimulating tang of exhaust fumes; the comforting roar of traffic; the constant tranquility of rock music from thousands of radios; the beautiful uniformity of grey concrete footpaths and black bitumen roads; the soaring majesty of high rise flats, people stacked so neatly, so conveniently, elbow to elbow, fifty deep. The suburbs, ah yes; the well ordered brick and tile bungalows, all so delightfully alike, with their red concrete paths and metallic carports; the streets with their neat rows of tidely cropped trees, wonderfully like a child's drawing of what a tree should look like; and now alas all gone.

Nature with all its frightening vigorous disorder, is taking over; the forests are regenerating; the noisy birds are coming back in vast numbers; wild animals like kangaroos and koala bears roam around unchecked, and its all our own fault.

Monday Morning

"It's a turn on. 6PM".

Music tears my head apart as the new day dawns. My eyes slowly open. Oh no, not another Monday. I rub the sleep out of my eyes, and slowly rise from my bed. I get dressed and trudge out to the kitchen. As I eat my cereal, I see that East Fremantle have won again, and Mal Brown is still suspended. After a warming up of coffee, I pack my bag with books full of half-done homework, and long English assignments. I open the door. BANG! The cold hits me like a brick wall.

Walking down the road to the bus stop, I see all the other people with that "Monday morning feeling" driving to work. There goes David Hollins in his white ute; and all those lucky kids who get driven to school. I drop my bag on the cement. All the other people turn around. They are the same faces every morning. The experienced business men, the young executive (I wonder why he catches the bus? If I were him I'd drive everywhere), the secretary, the other school kids.

The bus pulls up at the stop. I get on last as usual, being "polite" to the adults. It is nice and warm in the bus, and I get out a book to read. Four killings and a car chase later, I step out of the bus, into the freezing wind. It begins to rain.

"Bewdy", I think, "no P. E." The rain stops. I get on to another bus, and start talking to my friends. "Claremont will win the premiership; that English Exam was hard; I flattened an Aquinas guy . . ."

The bus stops and we pile out. Dodging our way through traffic, we are in the school grounds. I walk to my locker. Unloading my bag, I talk about Saturday's footy, and why we are so weak. I take my shorts and plod over to the gym. After changing, and finishing the usual formalities of excuses etc., I prepare myself for the run. The grass is wet and cold. My legs loosen up as I run around the nets. Through the wet mud, across the cold wet grass, up the stony steps; going around for the third time, I realize I won't make it in the time limit. My heart is pounding as I run past the nets. Around for another lap!

I clean my feet in the icy footbaths; walk up to the gym and to the wall bars.

"One". I pull myself up. "Lower". Only eight to go. My hands are sweaty and it is difficult to hold on to the bar. "Last one. Everybody up". I pull myself up for what seems like an eternity.

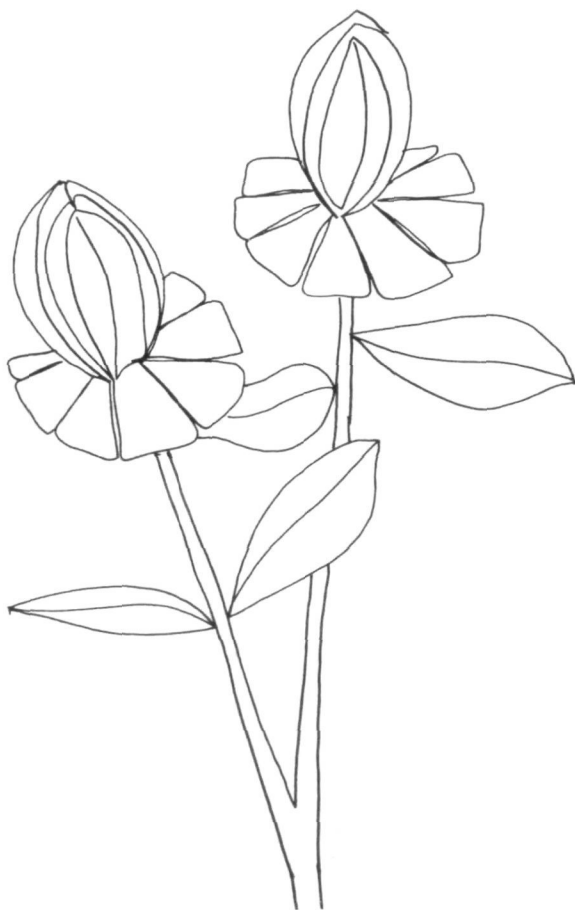

I lie down to do situps. "This is slack", I think to myself, as I slowly go up and down. At last the exercises are finished. Monday morning is nearly over. French goes slowly, as I think about recess and lunch and, eventually, going home. The bell rings. I am now back from the weekend. I am sure the week will go quickly.

Survival

The moon rose high in the land of perpetual night. Its reflected rays, from a sun all dwellers of the dark side were destined never to see, cleared the peak of the mountainous ridge and irradiated the plain with an orange light. Almost instantaneously the plain sprang into life, its many inhabitants striving to make use of the scanty light provided before it would all too soon set on the other side of the mountain range.

A few sly "herbors" had come out before the light and positioned themselves near some "flower" holes. These "herbors" (six legged "H" shaped creatures with a long tentacle placed in the middle containing eyes at the far end) were from the "Argor" tribe and were proving to be the first sign of intelligence the planet had ever seen.

Now these "herbors" waited rock still for the "flowers" to emerge. SWISH!, CRACK! A flower had emerged and because of its vital need for the moon light had failed to be cautious — one "Herbor" had a full belly. Another "flower" had crawled out of its hole, more cautiously this time, to see what was happening. It failed to notice the camouflaged "herbors" and proceeded to stretch out its large, silver petals and absorb the moon light. Any other "herbor" tribe would have attacked this flower immediately, but this "herbor" tribe, a mutation, had developed a primitive intelligence, so they waited.

Soon other "flowers", assured by the success of the second flower which was now bright red from the radiated energy it had absorbed, came out of their holes, glanced around, then stretched out their own petals.

The moon sank lower — suddenly, as if on cue, all the "herbors" moved. WOOSH! ISH! SWIS-OO! Not a flower remained. All that was left was a silver petal, which was soon noticed by one of the "herbors" and immediately devoured, just as the moon sank below the ridge.

"Okay. Here goes". He pushes the lever forward and, with the wheel swirling like butter in his experienced hands, the Dorian sends the sleek dome gliding swiftly past the Cessna.

"Beautiful. She handles like a charm"

"Right then, lets bring 'er round and try out Phase 2". His partner-navigator turns to his control panel and commences work. His hands glide over the panel with well practised ease and never once do his eyes leave his visu-screen.

"1.58 Rads to starboard. Cut the electron-driver 2 notches".

"Check. 1.58 to starboard . . . back 2 . . ."

"Check. Cut forward drive . . . she's all yours". In the screen now is the enlarged image of the Cessna.

"Hovering 15.586 metres above subject. Phase 3?"

"Check. Lower slowly".

"15.4m . . . 14.8m . . . 12.5m. Slow her down! 11.6m . . . 10.5m . . . 8.2m . . . 6.4m . . ."

"It's hovering above me! It's closing in! Hello? ZK5 to tower, do you read me? ZK5 to tower, do you read me!!"

"4.1m . . . 3.9m . . ."

"He's dropping"

"Good. We're pinching his airflow".

"Help! Tower! Everythings gone crazy. Everythings flying to the roof . . . I'm falling"

"Follow him down".

"Right. 4500m . . . 4000m . . . 3000m . . . 2000m . . . 1000m . . ."

"Pull out!" The Dorian's craft swept up over the water but the Cessna was not so lucky. The alien ship, now 1 km away, was no longer electrically interfering with his apparatus. The engine spluttered life and his radio again functioned but he had no time to use it. He hit the water at 500 km hr. with a shuddering crash.

The Final Stage

The desert loomed ahead, and lay like dormant white flesh upon the barren ground. Camels ceased their grunting noises, and plodded on like coffin bearers, and the travelling army dropped like wilted leaves.

The sun beat down upon the sand, a white searing radiance which diffused the vision and sent blood pumping madly at the back of the skull.

"Water! Water!" shouted one, and he went running like a crazed buffalo, after the images of his inner cravings, and found nothing. Still the sand veered away at all angles, and the shimmering heat caused reddening blisters and dark burns to the feet and faces of the weary travellers.

One by one the strong separated from the weak, and men dropped to the ground with exhaustion and dehydration. Those that could help lifted their stricken companions, and plodded on under the mounting burden. Suddenly the haze seemed to clear, and the mist of heat rose above the desert, and an image began to take shape. It was no mirage. Too many men saw it. "It's Akaba!" shouted one, and the rest gave approval with a resounding shout to the heavens.

Upper Atmosphere

*Upper atmospheric disturbance of the brain,
A symptom of life
Or a symptom of those who want to live?
True life is but a dream.
As hard as it may seem, the Life we live is the cream of man's mistakes.*

*What can it take to escape?
Or is there no hole
Big enough to get through?
Maybe just!
If we are too fat to get out,
Then let us live in what we have.
We can wallpaper it if we want,
and furnish the interior.
We're back to where we started,
Atmospheric disturbance of the upper brain.*

A Barbed Wire Discord

*"Import more foxholes" the placards screamed
At you, our militant anti-militia-man.
But your eyes were plugged,
Protecting your virgin conscience, or so They claimed,
From the awful realization that
Because of you "and you alone",
We may well lose possession of
A valuable sand dune!*

*The bombing began, filling the minds of men
With an opaque shrapnel.
Armies fell ...
Green turned red...
Souls evacuated and ants infiltrated.*

*They all blamed you,
Failing to see; for the minds of
Men could only taste
The bitter shrapnel war had strewn
Obscuring a taste for reasoned thought.
Who noticed that
The sand dune had been blown Apart?
What good would have been
Even a million foxholes?*

Genesis 1

"I was thinking of the natural world, but I guess anything that man makes is a form of creation . . . on and on Mr. Woollett rambled, I had lost interest decades ago. He said that creation was all about us. I looked around. It was true! Why, even my own desk was a marvel of literary creation.

"I flunked English here 1977"

"Simon Cox sat here", and so on.

But this wasn't what I could write about. Nature. That was it.

The teacher's car park wasn't exactly a hive of activity, so I turned towards Stirling Highway, and, in amongst the exhausts, the carbon monoxide and pollution, I saw something of this world that nature had created. I guess some people would say that it was God's work, but to me at the time it seemed simply nature at work. Even though it occupied a space in the school grounds, the giant pine tree seemed to reach over the intersection, on the Highway. In fact, some of its branches had been lopped to allow traffic to pass. Like a sculptor's work, that tree had been created limb by limb, into what it is today. It awed me to think that it had sprung from a seed, no bigger than a 5¢ coin, and this creation was still going on as new branches and leaves were added. When would this stop? When a group of men came along and decided that Stirling Highway needed a new over-under figure of eight dual carriage overpass and — "That thar tree's just gotta go".

It is only then that this marvel of creation is destroyed. Something that has taken years of creation is obliterated.

GAOL TOO FULL FOR ESCAPEE

Eating his way into Trouble

Joseph Connells, former burglar and vandal, ate his way out of the Fremantle Jail yesterday.

His cell was found empty at six o'clock this morning by Henry Oversby, one of the prison wardens, on duty at that time.

"I opened the cell door and put down his tray, after there was no answer from inside. The cell was empty except for the couple of pieces of furniture in room. I began to panic. I moved the bed away from the wall only to find a clean cut hole in the wall. The thing that worried the most was that there were teeth marks in and around the hole"

Joseph Connells was caught today in a rather poor condition, while buying a bottle of Enos powder from a South Perth pharmacy. He told his story to Police later, who immediately took him to Royal Perth Hospital. Apparently Connells had for the past two nights been gnawing his way through his cell wall, eating the pieces of brick, so as to hide any evidence that might give him away.

Doctors told reporters today that Connells had ruptured his intestine and induced sandstone poisoning which, until now had never been heard of.

Demolition Expert

One of the highlights of this year's Expo, was the extraordinary effort made by George Smith (34) of Claremont. He set out to eat a house.

The house, generously donated by Plunkett Homes, had three bedrooms, kitchen, dining and family rooms, plus a double carport, which according to George was "delicious".

"The most tasty part was the wallpaper and the gourmet's delight — insulation", he said, at the press conference afterwards. When asked about the bricks he replied, "the clay was often caught between my teeth, but generally they were easily digestible. The hardest part to eat was the plaster, which gave me diarrhoea. The metal piping had to be cut up into small chunks, as well as the sink, but the hard part was the toilet. The plastic cistern got caught in my throat, but the bowl went down easily, with the help of water. The last thing that I ate were the doors".

It was an incredible sight looking at the last remaining part — the foundations. It was reported that George was going to attempt to eat the Entertainment Centre, but negotiations fell through with Michael Edgely.

MANILA, Mon: Troops killed seven guerrillas in an underground People's Army (PA) hideout.

Modern Day Death

She now realised that she was lost. Her throat was dry and like sandpaper. The ball of fire above her head, known as the sun, shone bright and hot. She crawled a bit further. The vast desert region of this planet stretched away for eternity. If only she had listened to Michest. She could hear his spiteful words now, "Ahh! Poor Dianre, you seem to be lost. If you had stayed with me you could be living in luxury, with all the water you want". How true those words were.

She remembered the crash, the grinding roar, the hiss of gas, the crackle of fire, the screams of pain and the explosion. Somehow she had been thrown clear the small chartered vehicle when it crashed. Her mind slipped back into the past.

"All passengers. We are now crossing over the Tatwin Desert. It covers almost all of this continent. Before we pause for a rest stop, please examine the emergency cards", the stewardess had said. As the hovo-bus came down for a landing, the rear right motor had failed. The main-push rocket had been started, the pilot hoping he could pull out of the dive and land in a more hospitable place. But, because of the angle of descent the main rocket had only shortened their time in the air.

Dianre started. There was one of those scavenger-birds hovering over her head. Once again she tried to crawl forward. Dianre was at the top of another dune, but still she could see no end to desert. That dratted bird, "shoo!" she screamed. The scavenger bird flew away, but came back, this time with six others. She fainted.

When she came-to, she could feel the claws of a bird dig deep into her flesh. Dianre leapt to her feet and shook off the bird. Blood appeared through the back of her golden dress. Her blood had no clotting power and immediately started dribbling onto the dry sand. "Ohh, My God no. I don't want to die like this. AAuggh! Noooo! I'm too younggg!"

Her last energy drained, Dianre crumpled onto the sand and, she tumbled down the side of the dune. The birds settled down on top of her. Seven birds, three started ripping bits of flesh out of her three legs, and the other four attacked her four arms.

Fishing

*The splash in the water,
The tug on the line:
Then I know there's
A fish on the line.*

*It is great fun
When the fish turns and runs,
Pulling and tugging.
The line really hums.*

*Then you beach it.
It wriggles and squirms.
You take out the hooks
And your catch is confirmed.*

*Then you eat it.
It tastes very nice.
I like it fried,
But some like it spiced.*

Funky Disco Dance

*In I jumped, ready, excited,
Into the world of bright lights,
Rhythmic music and gyrating bodies.*

*People, girls, all round me,
Moving to the funky motown beat.

*My senses completely overwhelmed,
My concentration lost,
My body moving uncontrollably.*

*Red lights, green lights, yellow lights, blue,
Flashing, spinning, nothing is normal,
I'm all in a daze,*

*Strange lights, loud music is all I know.
Moving to the sound of the disco world.*

Blind Woman

*The twilight breeze was following
Each white-capped wave into the sand,
And continued to push sand and paper
Over the beach and towels,
A piercing, yellow reflection
Spanning the distance between eyes and sun.
Then, as I relaxed in the beautifully-lit waters,
She entered the waves,
Clutching, smiling and happy,
To the man she loved and trusted.
She couldn't see what I could,
But she was happy.
Her pale complexion and transparent eyes
Created a mystique that I had never before seen.
But she was laughing and allowing the Waves to fall over her.
Although I did not know her,
I loved her for her pure happiness.*

My Town

*You stood up to the hardships,
You held out under the torrential rains that tried to bring you down,
You stood up to the raging winds that tore at you like a raging animal.
Even fire swept through you,
Blackening your image but not your soul.
And when the clutches of drought tried to break your back,
You and your lovers stood up and defied it.
They defied it for you and your livelihood
As they would for a brother.*

*And now, I have realised why,
As I too have grown to love you
As many have before,
For your simplicity, loving community,
For what you are to me.
I laughed for you,
I cried for you,
I skinned my knees on an oval for you.
I did this for my pride in you,
You,
My town.*

FOOTBALL 1978 SEASON

TRINITY	Lost	9.8 to 11.14	A spirited and fighting effort from a young team. We were still in it with a chance, 5 mins. from the end (outscored them in 2nd half).
WESLEY	Lost	7.12 to 10.8	Had plenty of the play, dominated in the 3rd qtr. but kicked 3.10 in the 2nd half — failing to convert cost us the game. Best: Adamson, Lewis, Thurling, Seward.
HALE	Lost	6.5 to 9.7	Once again there was no lack of effort, we had a lot of drive from the half-back line and centre but we could not convert the critical goals. Best: Lewis, Annear, Stephenson, Seward, Watts.
SCOTCH	Lost	3.10 to 16.11	A determined effort against a more skilled side. We kept up the pressure all day. Best: Watts, Lewis, McDonald, Stephenson.
AQUINAS	Lost	9.8 to 13.12	Only one kick separated the two teams until the last eight minutes. A really valiant effort from the whole team. Best: Watts, Lewis, D. Knox, Seward, Clarke.
GUILDFORD	Won	5.12 to 3.7	Not a great win but it was great to win. Best: McDonald, Annear, M. Knox, Lewis, Watts, Moir.
TRINITY	Lost	6.7 to 8.8	An excellent 1st qtr., an excellent last qtr. but we lapsed in the 3rd qtr. Making mistakes in the vital back-line and missing direct shots for goal cost us the game. Best: Lewis, Stephenson, McDonald, Annear, Campbell.
WESLEY	Lost	5.10 to 6.16	In front all day until half way through the last quarter when we died. Best: D. Knox, Adamson, Seward, Lewis, McRae, M. Knox.
HALE	Lost	2.3 to 11.13	A weakened team, outscored in the 1st half but put in a good recovery in the second half. Best: McRae, Watts, Adamson, Lewis, Northey.
SCOTCH	Lost	4.2. to 17.15	A good start which eventually dwindled under strong pressure.

HOCKEY: 1978 Season

Trinity	0-1	Despite the loss, our play was impressive in a high standard game. Excellent defence especially from the Full-backs.
Wesley	4-0	We held them until half-time with good play but fell away a little in the 2nd half. We had our share of the play.
Hale	0-3	A very disappointing performance. Best: T. Reynolds, A. Putt.
Scotch	0-0	We are not yet assisting each other and passing to each other sufficiently frequently to be a good team.
Aquinas	2-5	We scored two very good goals and are starting to improve as a team but there is still a need for more disciplined position play.
Guildford	4-0	A good win under difficult conditions. Goalscorers: Whitford, 2; White, Reynolds, 1.
Trinity	3-1	We played very well especially in the second half, keeping them scoreless and scoring 1 ourselves.
Wesley	5-1	We continue to improve but need to improve our trapping and tackling.
Hale	1-1	A much improved team performance. We displayed more teamwork than in previous games.
Scotch	2-1	A scramble game which improved in the 2nd half. A very good game from Deeley.
